Natos European Allies Military Capability And Political Will:

NATO's European Allies J. Matlary, M. Petersson, 2013-01-30 The question of burden sharing has always been important in NATO with an acute relevance today as the US will cut its defence budget over a ten year period and is no longer automatically willing to lead military operations This volume considers Europe's role in political force for the future exploring eight European case studies NATO and the EU's European Security and Defense Policy United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Foreign Relations. Subcommittee on European Affairs, 2000 The Challenge of European Political Will

Rachel Ellehuus, Seth G. Jones, 2022-09-02 In this follow on report to Europe's High End Military Challenges The Future of European Capabilities and Missions the CSIS Europe Russia and Eurasia Program and International Security Program examine the other side of the coin of European military effectiveness the political will of European countries to conduct military missions and operations The report identifies the endogenous and exogenous factors constraining or increasing political will and maps them onto six country case studies Four prototypes of political will emerged from the analysis global partners international activists constrained partners and minimalists The report then assesses the political will of European allies and partners to conduct fifteen types of military missions and operations worldwide from peacekeeping to large scale combat It concludes with a summary of key findings First it finds that internal and external factors such as strategic culture and alliance dependence respectively will continue to constrain European political will in many cases even after the Russian invasion of Ukraine Second European states are more likely to have the political will to engage in military missions at the lower end of the conflict spectrum such as maritime patrol missions and less likely at the higher ends of the spectrum except in cases of significant collective or national defense The EU, NATO and the Libya Conflict Stefano

Marcuzzi, 2021-12-24 This book explores the causes and implications of the Libyan crisis since the anti Gaddafi uprisings of 2011 from the perspective of the EU and NATO It asks the question of why those organizations failed to stabilize the country despite the serious challenges posed by the protracted crisis to European and transatlantic stakes in the region This book argues that such failure originated in a twofold problem common to both organizations their prioritization of legitimacy over strategy and their path dependence the insufficient degree of adaptation to meet the different needs of the crisis Through a critical and integrated analysis of official sources and extensive interviews with EU NATO UN and national government officials and militaries as well as from NGO personnel Libyan institutions and civil society and media the volume brings the perspective of both state and non state actors to the fore It reveals how wrong assumptions and centrifugal forces within the EU and NATO hampered initiatives and how the inability to use hard power judiciously and effectively in an increasingly complex and multifaceted scenario worsened the crisis This allowed for unprecedented influence of regional and global competitors such as Egypt the United Arab Emirates UAE Turkey and Russia in the richest African country This book will be of key interest for scholars and students of Libya and North Africa NATO the European Union security and conflict studies

Middle East studies migration terrorism peacebuilding and more broadly international relations NATO's Balancing Act David Scott Yost, 2014 NATO's Balancing Act evaluates the alliance's performance of its three core tasks collective defense crisis management and cooperative security and reviews its members efforts to achieve the right balance among them Yost considers NATO's role in the evolving global security environment and its implications for collective defense and crisis management in the Balkans Afghanistan Africa Libya and elsewhere The US NATO Debate Magnus Petersson, 2015-07-30 Since the Libya War in 2011 it has been widely suggested that NATO's role in US security policy has diminished because Washington gives Europe less and Asia more strategic priority a tendency that is reinforced by budget restraints and because the US is no longer interested in always leading NATO activities that mainly concern European conditions Several experts have suggested that the US expect that the European security challenges primarily should be handled by NATO's European allies in a new transatlantic burden sharing model and that the US role should principally be Article V focused This book investigates to what extent these claims are valid and what consequences they may have for European and international security European Security in Transition Franz Kernic, 2016-04-22 Since the end of World War II security and defence have played a major role in European politics With the European Union's increasing role on the global stage and with today's war on terrorism security and defence issues have dramatically gained weight and importance in international politics This compelling volume provides an interdisciplinary look at the development and current status of the European security system as well as selected key issues on today's security agenda As such it provides an excellent resource for those wishing to make sense of the complexities of defence and security issues in the European Union at a time of global change NATO Review, 2000 Bernard Brodie and the Foundations of American Nuclear Strategy Barry Howard Steiner, 1991 Steiner analyzes how and why Brodie's understanding of weapons of unparalleled explosive force led him to posit the need for revolutionary strategic thinking in broadminded analytic method and in the focus upon cities as nuclear targets He shows the tremendous effect Brodie's work had on the intellectual climate in which policy is determined particularly in his frequent combatting of conventional wisdom US Department of State Dispatch, 1995-05 The Tablet, 1997 The international Catholic weekly The Navies of NATO NATO, 2001 The Politics of Alternative Defence Alternative Defence Commission (Great Britain), 1987 Om de politiske konsekvenser af et alternativt britisk forsvar uden atomvåben Proceedings - Assembly of Western European Union Western European Union, 1999 Perspectives, 1999 NATO and European Security Alexander Moens, Lenard J. Cohen, Allen G. Sens, 2003-03-30 Written before the September 11th attacks of 2001 ten contributions explore the tensions and transitions of the transatlantic relationship between Europe and the United States as it impacts the structures and policies of the North Atlantic Treaty Organizations Presented by Moens political science Simon Fraser U Canada Cohen political science Simon Fraser U and Sens international relations U of British Columbia Canada the contributions largely recognize that a fundamental shift has been taking place but provide different recommendations as to what policies the various actors should enact in response
