The Survey of Best Practices in Developing Online Information Literacy Tutorials 06/2013 Primary Research Group, 2013
The Survey of Best Practices in Developing Online Information Literacy Tutorials is a benchmarking report for online tutorial development presenting a wealth of information on the practices involved in and the cost of developing online information literacy tutorials. The 285 page report also looks at how tutorials are marketed and accessed and at popular access points such as Facebook, the library website and others as well as how tutorials are used in for credit classes and more ad hoc use. The study looks at how tutorial designers are trained and at how they inter relate to non library departments and other departments of the library. The study also looks at the use of tutorials of other colleges and vendor produced tutorials and at efforts to evaluate how students use tutorials and how colleges should make decisions on what kinds of tutorials to produce and how to best produce them. The questionnaire for the report was largely developed by librarians at the University of Arizona libraries.

TACCLE Graham Attwell, 2009
This book is written for classroom teachers who want to know more about e learning and who would like to experiment with designing e learning material to use in their own classrooms. It is primarily targeted at secondary teachers but there is no reason why primary school teachers and adult education teachers should not find it useful too. The other group we had in mind were those of you still undertaking initial teacher training. Although there are some exemplary courses, a depressing number of trainee teachers continue to arrive in the classroom having barely heard the words e learning still less have hands on experience of it Integration of Process Knowledge into Design Support Systems Hubert Kals,Fred van Houten,2013-04-17

Design is a fundamental creative human activity This certainly applies to the design of artefacts the realisation of which has to meet many constraints and ever raising criteria The world in which we live today is enormously influenced by the human race Over the last century these artefacts have dramatically changed the living conditions of humans The present wealth in very large parts of the world depends on it All the ideas for better and new artefacts brought forward by humans have gone through the minds of designers who have turned them into feasible concepts and subsequently transformed them into realistic product models The designers have been still are and will remain the leading change agents in the physical world Manufacturability of artefacts has always played a significant role in design In pre industrial manufacturing the blacksmith held the many design and realisation aspects of a product in one hand The synthesis of the design and manufacturing aspects took almost implicitly place in the head of the man All the knowledge and the skills were stored in one person Education and training took place along the line of many years of apprenticeship When the production volumes increased assembling to measure was no longer tolerated and production efficiency became essential design process planning production planning and fabrication became separated concerns The designers created their own world separated from the production world They argued that restrictions in the freedom of designing would badly influence their creativity in design Robin
