A review of UK health research funding David Sir Cooksey, 2006-12-06 This Review sets out to propose a structure for the funding arrangements for the whole spectrum of health research with the objective of obtaining the maximum benefit from research success and where possible eliminating duplication of effort The Review found however that the UK is at risk of failing to reap the full economic health and social benefits that the UK's public investment in health research should generate There is no overarching UK health research strategy to ensure UK health priorities are considered through all types of research and there are two key gaps in the translation of health research i translating ideas from basic and clinical research into the development of new products and approaches to treatment of disease and illness ii implementing those new products and approaches into clinical practice The Review also found that the wider funding arrangements for supporting translation of ideas from conception to practice could be more coherent or comprehensive and where arrangements exist they do not function well The Review identified cultural institutional and financial barriers to translating research into practice in the publicly funded research arena But it also found that in the private sector the pharmaceuticals industry is facing increasing challenges in translating research into health and economic benefit The Review has sought to make recommendations that will increase the translation of R D into health and economic benefit for the UK both in the public and private sectors The Review recommends that the Government should seek to achieve better coordination of health research and more coherent funding arrangements to support translation by establishing an Office for Strategic Coordination of Health Research OSCHR
