Oxtoby Manual:

Handbook of Dynamical Systems H. Broer, F. Takens, B. Hasselblatt, 2010-11-10 In this volume the authors present a collection of surveys on various aspects of the theory of bifurcations of differentiable dynamical systems and related topics. By selecting these subjects they focus on those developments from which research will be active in the coming years. The surveys are intended to educate the reader on the recent literature on the following subjects: transversality and generic properties like the various forms of the so-called Kupka-Smale theorem, the Closing Lemma, and generic local bifurcations of functions; so-called catastrophe theory and generic local bifurcations in 1-parameter families of dynamical systems; and notions of structural stability and moduli. Covers recent literature on various topics related to the theory of bifurcations of differentiable dynamical systems. Highlights developments that are the foundation for future research in this field. Provides material in the form of surveys which are important tools for introducing the bifurcations of differentiable dynamical systems.

Freeman, 2003 Handbook for Team-Based Qualitative Research Greg Guest, Kathleen M. MacQueen, 2007-07-20 This authoritative collection provides a practical and comprehensive introduction to team-based qualitative research. The authors are social scientists and health researchers with extensive experience in this rapidly expanding field. Qualitative research has become increasingly interdisciplinary and team-oriented. The transition away from the lone researcher approach to collaborative and inter-institutional research creates new challenges for designing and implementing qualitative research. The authors use examples from both American and international studies to show how working in teams affects research design, project management, data analysis, and the presentation of research findings. The book offers numerous approaches and methods for making team research more efficient and enhancing the quality of research findings throughout all stages of the research process. Topics covered include project design and preparation, logistics, research ethics, political dimensions of collaborative research, data collection, transcription, and data management, codebook development, data reduction, and analysis, monitoring, and quality control, and dissemination of results. Catalog San Francisco Theological Seminary, 1937
