Landscape and Branding Nicole Porter, 2015-10-05 Landscape and branding explores the way landscape is conceptualised, conceived, represented and designed by professionals in a brand driven age. Landscape incorporating tangible physical space as well as intangible concepts, narratives, images and experiences of place is constructed by a number of creative industries. This book tests the hypothesis that place branding, a powerful marketing and management practice, increasingly blurs the distinction between the promotion of landscape and its production in design terms. Place branding involves the strategic and systematic composition of single minded experiential and market friendly place identities which are consistently communicated across various media including physical space. How does this implicate or transform notions of place, nature, landscape, experience and the qualitative value of landscape itself? How does this affect the role of landscape architecture? To answer these questions, place branding theory and practice is critically examined alongside an in depth case study of one specific landscape, the Blue Mountains Australia Projects undertaken between 1995 and 2015, including a branding strategy for the region, media campaigns, television, cinema and several landscape architectural works in the public and private domain are comparatively analysed focusing on the discourse, conventions and values informing their production and the landscape narratives they convey. The Standard and Poor's 500 Guide Standard & Poor's, 2005-12 Text and statistical data on 500 individual companies.
