Socrates in the Cave Paul J. Diduch, Michael P. Harding, 2018-05-17 This book addresses the problem of fully explaining Socrates motives for philosophic interlocution in Plato's dialogues Why for instance does Socrates talk to many philosophically immature and seemingly incapable interlocutors Are his motives in these cases moral prudential erotic pedagogic or intellectual In any one case can Socrates reasons for engaging an unlikely interlocutor be explained fully on the grounds of intellectual self interest i.e. the promise of advancing his own wisdom Or does his activity including his self presentation and staging of his death require additional motives for adequate explanation Finally how if at all does our conception of Socrates motives help illuminate our understanding of the life of reason as Plato presents it By inviting a multitude of authors to contribute their thoughts on these question all of whom share a commitment to close reading but by no means agree on the meaning of Plato's dialogues this book provides the reader with an excellent map of the terrain of these problems and aims to help the student of Plato clarify the tensions involved showing especially how each major stance on Socrates entails problematic assumptions that prompt further critical reflection

An Examination of the Singular in Maimonides and Spinoza Norman L. Whitman, 2020-08-14 This book presents an alternative reading of the respective works of Moses Maimonides and Baruch Spinoza. It argues that both thinkers are primarily concerned with the singular perfection of the complete human being rather than with attaining only rational knowledge. Complete perfection of a human being expresses the unique concord of concrete activities such as ethics, politics, and psychology with reason. The necessity of concrete historical activities in generating perfection entails that both thinkers are not primarily concerned with an escape to a metaphysical realm of transcendent or universal truths via cognition. Instead, both are focused on developing and cultivating individuals' concrete desires and activities to the potential benefit of all. This book argues that rather than solely focusing on individual enlightenment, both thinkers are primarily concerned with a political life and the improvement of fellow citizens' capacities. A key theme throughout the text is that both Maimonides and Spinoza realize that an apolitical life undermines individual and social flourishing.

Political Philosophy and the Human Soul Michael Palmer, Thomas L. Pangle, 1995-08-15 On the sixty-fifth anniversary of the late Allan Bloom's birth, a distinguished group of his former students honor the memory of this inspiring teacher. Political Philosophy and the Human Soul includes a previously unpublished essay on Isocrates by Bloom, a reminiscence by Werner J. Dannhauser, and essays on Homer, the Bible, Plato, Machiavelli, Cervantes, Lessing, Tocqueville, Flaubert, and Leo Strauss. It will interest all students of political philosophy and literature.

Justice Among Nations Thomas L. Pangle, Peter J. Ahrens-dorf, 1999 This text provides an introduction to conceptions of international justice spanning 2500 years of intellectual history from Thucydides and Plato to Morgenthau and Waltz. It shows how older traditions of political philosophy remain relevant to contemporary debates in international relations.

Medieval Political Philosophy Muhsin Mahdi, 1972

The Death of God Frederiek Depoortere, 2008-04-28 A fascinating investigation into the history of the concept of God through Greek philosophy, Mediaeval theology, the Reformation, to Early Modern philosophy.

Jewish Philosophy in the Middle Ages Raphael Jospe, 2009 Jewish Philosophy in the Middle Ages presents an overview of the formative period of medieval Jewish philosophy from its beginnings with Saadia Gaon to its apex in Maimonides, when Jews living in Islamic countries and writing in Arabic were the first to develop a conscious and continuous tradition of philosophy. The book includes a dictionary of selected philosophic terms and discusses the Greek and Arabic schools of thought that influenced the Jewish thinkers and to which they responded. The discussion covers the nature of Jewish philosophy, Saadia Gaon and the Kalam, Jewish Neo-Platonism, Bahya ibn Paqudah, Abraham ibn Ezra's philosophical Bible exegesis, Judah Ha-Levi's critique of philosophy, Abraham ibn Daud, and the transition to Aristotelianism, Maimonides and the controversy over Maimonides and philosophy.

Logic and Aristotle's Rhetoric and Poetics in Medieval Arabic Philosophy Deborah L. Black, 1990 This book examines a widespread and often misunderstood doctrine within the medieval Aristotelian tradition, namely the inclusion of Aristotle's Rhetoric and Poetics within the scope of the Organon. It studies this doctrine as presented by the Islamic philosophers Al-Farabi, Avicenna, and Averroes from a purely philosophical perspective and argues that the logical construal of the arts of rhetoric and poetics is both interesting and illuminating The book begins by examining some prevalent misconceptions regarding the logical interpretation of the Rhetoric and Poetics Chapter two considers the Greek background of the doctrine first through an examination of the Aristotelian divisions of the sciences and then through an examination of the beginnings of the logical classification of the Rhetoric and Poetics among the Greek commentators from the school of Alexandria The remainder of the work is devoted to a detailed consideration of the Arabic philosophers development of the doctrine both their understanding of its general epistemological and logical underpinnings and their elaboration of the specific logical structures upon which poetical and rhetorical discourse is based Consideration is also given to the relationship between contemporary philosophical views of rhetoric and poetics and the views of these medieval authors American Book Publishing Record Cumulative, 1950-1977 R.R.
