communities in which they lived this study argues that women also learned methods of influence from the books they read In texts like Troilus and Criseyde and Partonope of Blois the female reader encounters an explicit demonstration of how a woman's intellectual and financial resources can be used The literary representations of women's cultural power expose a continuum of influence from non material effects to material sway in the medieval patronage system an influence often unacknowledged in strictly historical and extra literary sources Amy N Vines is Assistant Professor in the Department of English University of North Carolina Greensboro The Divine Plan for Salvation in the Medieval Saints' Legends Richard Vincent Leahy,1971 English Medieval Romance William Raymond Johnston Barron,1987 Studie over de Engelse roman in de Middeleeuwen The Arthur of the Iberians David Hook,2015-06-15 Up to date Coverage of the scope and extent of the important tradition of Arthurian material in Iberian languages and of the modern scholarship on it Wide ranging bibliographical coverage and guide to both texts and research on them Written by Specialists in the different Romance languages of the Iberian Peninsula Portuguese Catalan Galician Spanish and its dialects Expert analysis of different traditions by leading scholars from Spain and the UK Wide ranging Study not only of medieval and Renaissance literary texts but also of modern Arthurian fiction of the global spread of Arthurian legends in the Spanish and Portuguese worlds and of the social impact of the legends through adoption of names of Arthurian characters and imitation of practices narrated in the legends A comprehensive guide to both literary and social impact of Arthurian material in major world languages

Medieval and Modern History George Burton Adams,1899 Studies and texts in folklore, magic, medieval romance, Hebrew Apocrypha and Samaritan archæology ,1928 Celtic Myth & Legend, Poetry & Romance Charles Squire,1976 Love and Marriage in the English Medieval Romance Donnell Van de Voort,1938 Studies on the Legend of the Holy Grail Alfred Trübner Nutt,1888 Studies and Texts in Folklore, Magic, Medieval Romance, Hebrew Apocrypha and Samaritan Archæology Moses Gaster,1928 Magic in Medieval Romance Michelle Sweeney,2000 This book examines the roles of magic in medieval romance Magic's crucial function in the romances may be established by studying the diverse works of Chr tien de Troyes the Lais of Marie de France the romances of Sir Tristrem Syr Launfal Ywain Gawain and Chaucer's The Franklin's Tale Romance authors used magical trials to explore a character's moral status and position on issues important to the community such as when to maintain loyalty to a king or to a lover Romance authors were able to encourage the exploration of human motivation by using magic to create or expose a character morally ambiguous situation This technique enabled a broader discussion of social issues than would have been allowed in situations constrained by the boundaries of Christian dogmatism In order to understand the function of magic in medieval romance it is necessary to appreciate its function in the medieval world Magic is coupled to some of the most important works of the medieval age such as the theological texts of Augustine and Aquinas the histories of Geoffrey of Monmouth and Wace as well playing a significant role in medicine and the nascent studies of science Romance writers capitalised upon the associations between magic and these fields of study to create a more serious framework for their texts The romances could then operate beyond the level of simple entertainment and provide the interested audience with social commentary moral analysis and material for thought on a wide variety of issues
