Unlocking the Hidden Potentials of Organization Through Merging of Humans and Digitals

Velimir Štavljanin, Ivana Mijatović, Ivan Luković, 2025-12-01 This book contains a selection of extended and peer reviewed high quality research papers presented at the XIX International Symposium of Organizational Sciences SymOrg 2024 held in Zlatibor Serbia from 12 to 15 June 2024. The unique characteristics of modern digital technologies when combined with human capabilities have the potential to unlock hidden organizational value. Yet realizing this potential requires more than the mere adoption of advanced tools; it demands a multidimensional and integrative approach that is thoroughly examined throughout this book. Contributing authors offer cutting edge insights into a wide range of topics including blockchain technologies, green and digital transformation, creativity, innovation, sustainable management, data and business analytics, organizational design, operations and logistics management, and e-business. This book serves as an invaluable resource for professionals, researchers, academic institutions, and all those interested in the latest developments in organizational sciences.

Strategic Management of International E-Commerce Firms

Marius Müller, 2025-09-30 In this book, Marius Müller explores the distinct virtual and physical internationalization strategies of today's leading international e-commerce firms. By revealing previously unknown determinants of e-commerce firms' online geographic scope, foreign direct investments, and international performance, he contributes novel insights into how these digital firms successfully coordinate their virtual and physical presence across borders. Finally, he highlights the complex interplay between these international strategies and dynamic host country factors.

Histories of Digital Journalism

Tamas Tofalvy, Igor Vobič, 2024-11-11 Building on the momentum of the recent historical turn in digital media and Internet studies, this volume explores how digital journalism has developed from a historical perspective. With contributions from established and emerging scholars from Europe, Asia, South and North America, the book investigates not only how established journalistic systems transformed in the early days of digital but how the structural, technological, and cultural changes induced by digitization have reconfigured the trajectory of journalism. The book argues in support of three main claims. The first is that emphasis should be given to the plurality of histories instead of one single digital journalism history, thereby acknowledging the complexities, interactions of social relations, cultural traditions, power configurations, and technological changes that have shaped journalism and digitization. The second is the decentralization and decolonization of digital journalism histories. The third refers to the need to highlight and demonstrate the idea that the evolution of digital journalism should be viewed as the co-construction of the social and technological realms. With theoretical and methodological reflections on historicizing digital journalism along with original case studies or comparative inquiries into the phenomena over the decades-long digital revolution of journalism, this volume will shape the nascent field of digital journalism history and start a global critical exchange of various approaches to and aspects of historicizing digital journalism. As such, it will interest scholars and
