Knowing exactly where you fit when you are in the ride sharing industry can be a bit tricky Are you an employee Or are you self employed This is important to understand because it completely changes how you look at taxes When you are an employee your tax deductions are taken care of by your employer and certain taxes are shared in equal parts between the employee and the employer However when you are self employed you are completely and solely responsible for paying 100% of your taxes out of your paycheck There are a few forms that you will have to get familiar with in order to successfully do your filing as a self employed person Let us discuss some measures to ensure that you get your taxes right Driver Tax Planning Ramiro Sero,2021-08-13 When you're a driver for a ride sharing company such as Uber Lyft or another car sharing service the most important thing to understand about your taxes is that you are probably not an employee of a ride sharing company Drivers for these companies are usually independent contractors a fact that has tax implications both at filing time and year round This book will teach you the fundamentals of becoming a business owner and includes Helpful glossary of common tax terms so you understand what you read Correct facts cited by real IRS code instructions and resources Breakdown of different types of deductions to maximize your refund Audit defense tips to make your return harder to crack Tax timeline this year 2016 to keep track of the seemingly endless forms to file and much more

2019 Tax Deductions for Uber & Lyft Drivers Eric Stockson,2019-02 The collection of taxes forms a part of the primary resource of every state and country The timely and accurate collection of taxes enables the efficient operation of entities as well as the maintenance of state owned properties and businesses Taxes are a mandatory expense for most employed and self employed Americans Among the groups of entrepreneurs expected to meet their statutory obligations are the Uber and Lyft drivers The Uber enterprise began in San Francisco in 2009 The venture began as a way to address the increasing need for a timely modern and leisurely taxi service The concept became widely accepted leading to the launch of similar brands such as Lyft Since their entry into the transportation industry both Lyft and Uber have become renowned for convenient and efficient transportation services They are both designed as technology based businesses allowing users to electronically request transportation from one location to the next Users are able to download the respective applications and utilize the app to locate and make contact with driver partners as well as riders When the request is made users are able to track the location of the vehicle while it is en route offering users the ability to better manage time prior to leaving for the new destination. Among the expenses to be paid by these entrepreneurs are vehicle business expenses and phone expenses. The purpose of this book is to explore the 2019 tax preparation process for Uber and Lyft drivers. The content will seek to explore what their deductions are and how they can be maximized during the heightened tax season to guarantee the best results for the drivers. It is hoped that content shared will sufficiently enhance the knowledge of the subject.

Income Tax Guide for Rideshare and Contract Delivery Drivers John C White JD, 2017-02-09 Third Millennium Tax's Income Tax Guide for Rideshare and Contract Delivery Drivers is the first guide to offer a comprehensive nuts and bolts overview of the income tax issues facing rideshare and contract delivery drivers. There are a number of very important decisions that need to be made at tax time for example should you claim Actual Car Expenses or the Standard Mileage Rate. Making an informed decision on this issue alone is absolutely critical. There's a lot of confusion about what expenses can be deducted on a rideshare return. The author, an attorney and longtime IRS Revenue Officer and Tax Analyst, points you in the right direction. He examines more than 60 different expenses that you might incur and explains whether an expense is deductible, how much of the expense is deductible, and where to claim it if it is deductible. The author has also included an invaluable section on tax credits related to rideshare and contract delivery, tips on preparing Schedules C and SE, and suggestions for business record keeping.
