Modern Architecture Alan Colquhoun:

Modern Architecture Alan Colquhoun, 2002 In this study of the international modern movement in architecture Alan Colquhoun explores the complex motivations behind its revolutionary new style and assesses its triumphs and failures

Essays in Architectural Criticism Alan Colquhoun, 1981 This collection of 17 of Alan Colquhoun's essays marks a watershed in the development of architectural thinking over the past three decades comprising a virtual theory of Modernism in architecture

Modern Architecture and the Mediterranean Jean-Francois Lejeune, Michelangelo Sabatino, 2009-12-04 Considering the influence of the forms and tectonics of the Mediterranean vernacular on modern architectural practice and discourse from the 1920s to the 1960s

Constructing Identity in Contemporary Architecture Peter Herrle, Stephanus Schmitz, 2009 The global spread of uniform modes of production and cultural values has been accompanied by a dissemination of stereotypes of modern architecture styles almost everywhere around the globe Paradoxically the reverse process has also emerged In some countries the elites feel the necessity to counterbalance the loss of identity and defend their own cultures against the intruding forces of globalization What started as a defensive notion has developed into a more progressive attempt to re create what has allegedly been lost This trend is being strongly expressed in discourses about architecture in countries of the South Who are the actors feeling compelled to construct new identities How are these new identities in architecture created in various parts of the world And which are the ingredients borrowed from various historical and ethnic traditions and other sources These and other questions are discussed in five case studies from different parts of the world written by renowned scholars from Brazil Mexico Egypt India and Singapore A Critical History of Contemporary Architecture Dr Elie G Haddad, Asst Prof David Rifkind, Ms Sarah Deyong, 2014-03-28 This book provides a comprehensive critical overview of the developments in architecture from 1960 to 2010 The first section provides a presentation of major movements in architecture after 1960 and the second a geographic survey that covers a wide range of territories around the world This book not only reflects the different perspectives of its various authors but also charts a middle course between the aesthetic histories that examine architecture solely in terms of its formal aspects and the more ideological histories that subject it to a critique that often skirts the discussion of its formal aspects A Language of Contemporary Architecture Rafael Luna, Dongwoo Yim, 2023-05-05 As a way to understand the contemporary project in architecture this book provides an index of ideas theories projects and definitions that string into a methodology for evaluating the contemporary language of architecture described as contemporism through a review of topology form and typology system and elements The contemporary project has been trying to answer the postmodern question of how to move beyond modernism through a thread of architectural styles that tried to respond to deficiencies from the modern promise and contextual changes Yet the question remains should this ongoing struggle to move beyond modernism be a stylistic battle Has the present architectural practice ever left the modernist tendencies and is there a structure for a contemporary language in architecture This book presents a collection of highly illustrated projects that have worked under these parameters to break away from modernism in order to present a holistic integration of topology and typology as a language for contemporism The index is illustrated with individual spreads which can be read sequentially or independently and encourages the reader to make their own connections It also includes interviews and contributions from Toyo Ito Anthony Vidler Ben van Berkel Christian Kerez and Greg Lynn This book is essential reading for undergraduate and graduate students in architecture Resisting Postmodern Architecture Stylianos Giamarelos, 2022-01-10 Since its first appearance in 1981 critical regionalism has enjoyed a celebrated worldwide reception The 1990s increased its pertinence as an architectural theory that defends the cultural identity of a place resisting the homogenising onslaught of globalisation Today its main principles such as acknowledging the climate history materials culture and topography of a specific place are integrated in architects education across the globe But at the same time the richer cross cultural history of critical regionalism has been reduced to schematic juxtapositions of the global with the local Retrieving both the globalising branches and the overlooked cross cultural roots of critical regionalism Resisting Postmodern Architecture resituates critical regionalism within the wider framework of debates around postmodern architecture the diverse contexts from which it emerged and the cultural media complex that conditioned its reception In so doing it explores the intersection of three areas of growing historical and theoretical interest postmodernism critical regionalism and globalisation Based on more than 50 interviews and previously unpublished archival material from six countries the book transgresses existing barriers to integrate sources in other languages into anglophone architectural scholarship In so doing it shows how the periphery was not just a passive recipient but also an active generator of architectural theory and practice Stylianos Giamarelos challenges long held central notions of supposedly international discourses of the recent past and outlines critical regionalism as an unfinished project apposite for the 21st century on the fronts of architectural theory history and historiography

Analogical City Cameron McEwan, 2024-01-18 In Analogical City Cameron McEwan argues for architecture's status as a critical project McEwan revisits architect Aldo Rossi as a paradigmatic figure of the critical rational tradition studying a neglected aspect of his thought the analogical city to excavate its potential McEwan develops a grammar of the analogical city under the headings of Imagination Transformation City Multitude and Project McEwan argues that the analogical city is critical collective and emancipatory Analogical thought and understanding cities as analogical might open the conditions of possibility for rethinking the critical project in architecture At a time when the humanities and the sciences are threatened by irrational thought from climate denial to post truth narratives and when architecture has seemingly disavowed its critical capacity and political possibility through its commodification as an instrument of the neoliberal city McEwan offers critical strategies conceptual tools figures of thought and knowledge practices to articulate modes of thinking and acting differently within architectural criticism and practice Today knowledge is a common terrain of struggle and thought requires constant reinvention The task of architecture and critique more broadly must be to interpret the world in order to change it Consequently Analogical City proposes modes for imagining the city the subject and the world otherwise towards a more egalitarian and critical architecture of the city Ultimately the analogical city is not a fully developed theory nor is it only an intuitive poetic or purely formal practice as some critics propose McEwan argues that the analogical city is poetic and political it always refers beyond itself towards a collective and critical project of the city and yet it invites a series of formal spatial and graphic operations comprising erasure and negativity followed by substitution and remontage
