

Life Safety - Means of Egress/Exits – NFPA 101

Properly designed exits provide a safe path of escape from a fire or other emergency environment. The means of egress (exits) should be arranged to permit all occupants to reach a safe place before they are endangered by fire, smoke, or heat. The goal is for everyone to leave the hazardous areas in the shortest time possible.

The National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) developed model codes for fire protection and life safety. These model codes were adopted by federal, state, and local organizations and are included in their various building codes. NFPA 101 is the code that addresses life safety. This code includes minimum life safety requirements and requirements for specific building occupancy. The "authority having jurisdiction" (AHJ) (fire marshal, etc.) can modify these requirements under certain circumstances. NFPA 101 is a performance code and uses an "equivalent protection" concept by permitting alternatives, such as credits in case of a fully sprinklered occupancy. The code makes a distinction between a new and an existing occupancy. In most cases, adequate consideration is given to life safety in new construction. Changes in occupancy, growth, or modernization of operations require a periodic life safety review.

This bulletin is intended only as a general overview of the basic requirements. Please refer to the most current edition of Life Safety Code NFPA 101 for specific details for each type of occupancy.

Definitions

Means of Egress: A continuous and unobstructed path of travel from any point in a building or structure to a public way that consists of the following three separate and distinct parts:

- Exit access: The travel path or area that leads from where a person is located to the entrance to an exit.
- Exit: That portion of a means of egress that is separated by construction or equipment from other areas of the building. Exit components include walls, floor, doors, or other means that provide the protected path necessary for the occupants to proceed with reasonable safety to the exterior of the building. An exit may comprise vertical or horizontal means of travel such as doorways, stairways, ramps, corridors, and passageways. Types of permissible exits are doors leading directly outside or through a protected passageway to the outside, smoke-proof towers, interior and outside stairs, ramps, and escalators in existing buildings. Elevators are not accepted as exits.
- Exit discharge: That portion of a means of egress between the end of the exit and a public way or other safe place.
