New Nature Architectural Conditions Between:

A New Nature Anders Abraham, 2015 A New Nature is a book about architecture as the organization of material It unfolds an idea of working with architecture and urbanity as conditions rather than form By experiencing cities and cultural landscapes as states of change the author investigates their degree of organization between order and chaos When we design and build buildings naturally we need to enter into an already existing context Even so many houses simply stand alone side by side rather than identifying themselves with and becoming a part of the urbanity that connects and creates cohesion in the culturally created the new nature The first part of the book develops an architectural language that connects material and meaning through nine states between liquid and solid in order to achieve a qualified and sustainable approach to understanding the modern city in its continuous transformation The book's second part documents a number of project proposals and realized works that illustrate the usage of this architectural idiom Including precise drawings and models A New Nature introduces a new kind of spatial investigation

The Oxford Conference Susan Roaf, Andrew Baird, 2008 50 years after the first Oxford Conference on Architectural Education the 2008 conference brought together over 500 people from 42 countries to share best practice discuss how when where and why we teach architecture now and in the future

Design and Nature VI S. Hernandez, C. A. Brebbia, 2012 Throughout history many leading thinkers have been inspired by the parallels between nature and human design in mathematics engineering and other areas Today the huge increase in biological knowledge developments in design engineering systems together with the growth in computer power and developments in simulation modelling have all made possible more comprehensive studies of nature Conference topics include the following Mechanics in nature Nature and architecture Natural materials and processes Solutions from nature Biomimetics and bio inspiration Biocapacity Education in design and nature Competition in nature Biological engineering Constructional theory Locomotion in nature Gravitational biology Self sustaining environments It is these developments which have prompted the reconvening of this international conference on Design and Nature It is intended that the meeting will bring together researchers from around the world working on a variety of studies involving nature and their significance for modern scientific thought and design

Designing the Rural Joshua Bolchover, John Lin, Christiane Lange, 2017-03-03 The rural is not what it used to be No longer simply a site for agricultural production for the city the relationship between the rural and urban has become much more complex Established categories such as rural urban and village city no longer hold true Rural and urban conditions have become increasingly blurred so how can we identify and distinguish their specific characteristics Where is the rural and what role does it play in an urbanised world In developing countries the countryside is a volatile and contradictory landscape legally designated rural areas look like dense slums factories intersect fields and farmers no longer farm In contrast in developed regions the rural has become a highly controlled landscape of production and consumption industrialised agriculture coexists with leisure landscapes for tourism retirement and recreation This issue of AD investigates how architects and researchers are critically engaging with the rural as an experimental field of exploration Contributors Neil Brenner Christiane Lange Charlotte Malterre Barthes Sandra Parvu Cole Roskam Grahame Shane Deane Simpson and Milica Topalovic and Bas Princen Architects Anders Abraham Joshua Bolchover and John Lin Rural Urban Framework Ambra Fabi and Giovanni Piovene Piovenefabi Rainer Hehl Stephan Petermann OMA Huang Sheng Yuan FieldOffice and Sandeep Virmani Hunnarshala Media Architecture Alexander Wiethoff, Heinrich

Hussmann, 2017-02-20 The augmentation of urban spaces with technology commonly referred to as Media Architecture has found increasing interest in the scientific community within the last few years At the same time architects began to use digital media as a new material apart from concrete glass or wood to create buildings and urban structures Simultaneously Human Computer Interaction HCI researchers began to exploit the interaction opportunities between users and buildings and to bridge the gaps between interface information medium and architecture As an example they extended architectural structures with interactive light emitting elements on their outer shell thereby transforming the surfaces of these structures into giant public screens At the same time the wide distribution of mobile devices and the coverage of mobile internet allow manifold interaction opportunities between open data and citizens thereby enabling the internet of things in the public domain However the appropriate distribution of information to all citizens is still cumbersome and a mutual dialogue not always successful i e who gets what data and when In this book we therefore provide a deeper investigation of Using Information and Media as Construction Material with media architecture as an input and output medium The Inland Architect and News Record, 1900 Papers Read at the Royal Institute of British Architects, 1871 Southern Architect, 1899 The Overland Monthly, 1899 The Architectural Review, 1899 Architecture Spiro N. International Congress on Technical Education Society for the Encouragement of Arts, Manufactures, and Commerce, 1897 Chasing the City Joshua M Nason, Jeffrey S Nesbit, 2018-10-08 Historically many architects planners and urban designers solicit idealistic depictions of a controllable urban environment made from highly regulated geometrical organizations and systematically defined processes Rather than working as urban designers who set out to control and implant external processes we shift our approach to that of urban detectives who set out to chase the city Charged with approaching the city more responsively we investigate what we do not know allowing the city to direct our work As urban detectives we have the ability to interrogate and respond to the elaborate patterns emerging from self generated internalized urban interactions Chasing the City asks what are the current design trends shaping how we first understand the cities of today to then produce informed decisions on the continuously undefined evolving city of tomorrow Intentionally the work here does not adhere to rudimentary notions of supposed singularities or rely upon past generations of idealistic utopian models Rather Chasing the City delineates current models of urban investigation that seek to respond to the nature of cities and develop heretofore urban strategies as concurrently negotiated future urbanism This edited volume provides a collection of innovative design research projects based on shared notions of Chasing the City through three bodies of strategic frameworks 1 Mapping 2 Resource and 3 Typology This structure ultimately allows readers as fellow urban detectives access to exploratory tools and methods of detection that accumulate from our environs both practical and projective in our chase of the city
