

GENERAL PROGRAM: TRADITIONAL AND ACCELERATED

LEHMAN COLLEGE The City University of New York DEPARTMENT OF NURSING

The accelerated nursing program is designed to allow a degree in nursing to be achieved in a period of a year and a half whereas the traditional nursing program requires a two year period. The responsibility for implementation of the first three years educational requirement is provided by the Department of Education, Borough of Manhattan Community College, City University of New York. The Department of Nursing, Lehman College, City University of New York, is responsible for the fourth and fifth years of the program.

This program is a two-year degree of the City of New York Community College system. Accelerated study requires that students participate in additional academic courses.

The traditional program is designed with emphasis on two academic years. The Department of Nursing will assist in applying to the Nursing Program, students meeting their general education and prerequisite courses. Students planning to enter nursing must submit their application for the first year class around the winter and read announcements regarding the nursing program in the Department of Nursing. Prospective students must wait for general opening of the program. Nursing is considered a full-time program during the day. The Department will identify other courses not prescribed program for students planning a graduate program in nursing field. The prerequisites are used by admission personnel to be used in the nursing program students. Application to the accelerated program requires the submission of course plan. The program is designed to be completed in 24 months.

Students planning to complete their academic studies should consult with the Department of Nursing regarding the program. A separate meeting application to the Department of Nursing is required by January 15th to March 15th deadline for the program entry. Application deadline is January 15th.

The clinical education program will provide students the opportunity to learn and develop skills in the clinical setting. Students should consult with the nursing department.

Students of the program will have gained the knowledge and experience for further education or work in the community with their students of the Department. Students will have demonstrated skills in critical thinking and have the ability to provide ongoing and comprehensive care for their patients and families in various practice settings in health.
