Multimodality Built Environment Discourse Routledge:

Multimodality in the Built Environment Louise J. Ravelli, Robert J. McMurtrie, 2015-11-19 This book provides an extended exploration of the multimodal analysis of spatial three dimensional texts of the built environment culminating in a holistic approach termed Spatial Discourse Analysis SpDA Based on existing frameworks of multimodal analysis this book applies adapts and extends these frameworks to spatial texts The authors argue that choices in spatial design create meanings about what we perceive and how we can or should behave within spatial texts influence how we feel in and about those spaces and enable these texts to function as coherent wholes Importantly a spatial text once built is also a resource which is then used and an essential aspect of understanding these texts is to consider what users themselves contribute to the meaning potential of these texts The book takes the metafunctional approach familiar from Systemic Functional Linguistics SFL and foregrounds each metafunction in turn textual interpersonal experiential and logical in relation to the detailed analysis of a particular spatial text

Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,2003-04 Multimodal Communication Jens S. Allwood, Shirley Nicholson,2006 Landscapes and Learning Margaret Somerville, Kerith Power, Phoenix de Carteret,2009

Places are made after their stories Just as place names describe complex and conflicted place making aspirations so with all marks associated with the marking of places tracks the symbolic representation of these in song dance and poetic speech indeed all the technologies that join up distances into narratives they all inscribe the earth's surface with the forms of stories Of course these are not the same as the foundational myths of imperial cultures whose aim is to displace any prior discourse of place making They are stories of and as journeys passages in a double sense constitutionally incomplete because they always await their completion in the act of crossing over or meeting which of course is endless Paul Carter

Landscapes and Learning maps some of these stories and passageways to open up new place making possibilities The book uses the lens of place to explore how we can respond differently to some of the major questions of our time Postcolonial global concerns such as increased displacement and migration the loss of indigenous knowledges and the imperatives of environmental degradation and climate change require critical educational responses Place studies provides new languages and fresh metaphors to open up interdisciplinary conversations in the space between local and global and indigenous and non indigenous knowledges Through its focus on the mutual constitution of bodies identities histories spaces and places place studies offers a conceptual tool for important cultural and environmental transformations
