 We live in an age in which expressive informational and technological subject matter are becoming increasingly important Intellectual property is the primary means by which the law seeks to regulate such subject matter It aims to promote innovation and creativity and in doing so to support solutions to global environmental and health problems as well as freedom of expression and democracy It also seeks to stimulate economic growth and competition accounting for its centrality to EU Internal Market and international trade and development policies Additionally it is of enormous and increasing importance to business As a result there is a substantial and ever growing interest in intellectual property law across all spheres of industry and social policy including an interest in its legal principles its social and normative foundations and its place and operation in the political economy This handbook written by leading academics and practitioners from the field of intellectual property law and suitable for both a specialist legal readership and an intelligent but non specialist legal and non legal readership
