Object Lens Vol Spreadsheet Cooperative:

Computer-Supported Cooperative Work Uwe M. Borghoff, Johann H. Schlichter, 2013-11-09 The terms groupware and CSCW computer supported cooperative work have received significant attention in computer science and related disciplines for quite some time now This book is a revised and extended version of the 2nd edition of the German textbook Rechnergestützte Gruppenarbeit Eine Einführung in verteilte Anwendungen It has two main objectives first to outline the meaning of both terms and second to point out both the numerous opportunities for users of groupware and the risks of applying such systems The book intends to introduce an area of distributed systems namely the computer support of individuals trying to solve a common problem in cooperation with each other but not necessarily having identical work places or working times Computer supported cooperative work is an interdisciplinary application domain It can be viewed as a synergism between the areas of distributed systems and multimedia communication on the one hand and between those of information science and socio organizational theory on the other hand Thus the book is meant to help students of all these disciplines as well as users and developers of systems which have communication and cooperation within groups as top priorities Telematics for Education and Training Paul Held, Walter F. Kugemann, 1995 This book provides an overview of the current state of discussion from different perspectives It starts with the European view Representatives of the CEC present the political strategies and objectives of the IV Framework Programme regarding education and training supported by technology and telematics International experts join the discussion specifying political cultural sociological psychological and market factors which determine the success of the implementation of new learning environments How should learning systems be developed and evaluated this question is tackled in the following section Specific project descriptions show how the involvement of different user groups has been achieved home learners small and medium sized enterprises large companies secondary and tertiary education The perspective then shifts to the different components of learning systems the management of virtual space the economical production of learning material the use of simulation A more technology oriented section discussing questions of different technologies and standards concludes the publication Agent Supported Cooperative Work Yiming Ye, E. Churchill, 2012-12-06 Improvements in computer networking have heralded great expectations for computer mediated distributed work However experience has revealed that as information flow improves a central problem for distributed workers is the administration management and control of that information Research into Computer Supported Cooperative Work CSCW investigates design methods and technologies for the support of collaboration communication and coordination of distributed group work both within and among organizations In tandem with this focus on the support of distributed communication and collaboration there have been exciting developments in the fields of Intelligent Agents and Distributed Artificial Intelligence DAI notably in the concepts theories and deployment of intelligent agents as a means of distributing computer based problem solving expertise The paradigm of multi agent systems forms a proposed basis for the design of CSCW architectures the support of CSCW operations and for addressing some of the problems of cooperative working The application of a multi agent approach to CSCW makes information exchange among the participants easier by delivering support to the participants assisting workflows and procedures and providing convenient user interfaces to CSCW systems Furthermore the ideas inherent in such an approach are also applicable to other domains such as support for interactive learning Organizations that seek to exploit the advantages offered through CSCW will benefit from the integration of agents in the management and use of their corporate knowledge especially with the advancement of wired or wireless networking pervasive computing and other information technologies Agent Supported Cooperative Work describes the state of the art in this exciting new area covering both theoretical foundations and practical applications of ASCW It is the first book explicitly dedicated to ASCW bringingtogether contributions from international experts in the field

Decentralized A.I Y. Demazeau,J.-P. Müller,1990-07-06 Much research in Artificial Intelligence deals with a single agent having complete control over the world A variation of this is Distributed AI DAI which is concerned with the collaborative solution of global problems by a distributed group of entities This book deals with Decentralized AI DzAI which is concerned with the activity of an autonomous agent in a multi agent world The word agent is used in a broad sense to designate an intelligent entity acting rationally and intentionally with respect to its goals and the current state of its knowledge A number of these agents coexist and may collaborate with other agents in a common world each agent may accomplish its own tasks or cooperate with other agents to perform a personal or global task The agents have imperfect knowledge about each other and about their common world which they can update either through perception of the world or by communication with each other The papers were originally presented at a workshop held at King s College Cambridge and have been revised for this book
