Movie Roadshows Kim R. Holston, 2013-01-01 This work examines a film distribution system paralleling the rise of early features and persisting until 1972 when Man of La Mancha was the final roadshow to require reserved seating. Synonymous with Hollywood's star-studded premieres, roadshows were longer and cost more than regular features, making the experience similar to attending the legitimate theater. Roadshows often epic in subject matter, played selected theaters usually only one in major urban centers until demand decreased. De rigueur by the 1960s were musical overtures, intermissions, entre acte and exit music, and souvenir programs for sale in the lobby. Throughout the text are recollections by people who attended roadshows including actor John Kerr and actresses Barbara Eden and Ingrid Pitt. The focus is on roadshows released in the United States, but an appendix identifies international roadshows and films forecast but not released as roadshows. Included are plots, contemporary critical reaction, premiere dates, production background, and methods of promotion, i.e. the ballyhoo.

Casablanca's Conscience Robert Weldon Whalen, 2024-02-06 A new look at a beloved classic film that explores the philosophical dynamics of Casablanca. Celebrating its eightieth anniversary this year, Casablanca remains one of the world's most enduringly favorite movies. It won three Academy Awards for Best Picture, Best Director, and Best Adapted Screenplay. It is still commonly quoted: "We'll always have Paris" and "Here's looking at you, kid." And who can forget "You must remember this: A kiss is just a kiss. Yet no one expected much to come of this little film, certainly not its blockbuster stars or even the studio producing it. So how did this hastily cranked-out 1940s film, despite its many limitations become one of the greatest films ever made How is it that year after year decade after decade it continues to appear in the lists of the greatest movies ever produced And why do audiences still weep when Rick and Ilsa part The answer according to Casablanca's Conscience is to paraphrase Rick It's true Much has already been written about the film and the career defining performances of Bogart and Bergman Casablanca is an epic tale of love betrayal and sacrifice set against the backdrop of World War II Yet decades later it continues to capture the imagination of filmgoers In Casablanca's Conscience author Robert Weldon Whalen explains why it still resonates so deeply Applying a new lens to an old classic Whalen focuses on the film's timeless themes Exile Purgatory Irony Love Resistance and Memory He then engages the fictional characters Rick Ilsa and the others against the philosophical and theological discourse of their real contemporaries Hannah Arendt Dietrich Bonhoeffer and Albert Camus The relationships between fictional and historical persons illuminate both the film's era as well as perennial human concerns Both the film and the work of the philosophers explore dimensions of the human experience which while extreme are familiar to everyone It's the themes that resonate with the viewer that have sustained it as an evergreen classic all these years Screen Digest, 1990 Leonard Maltin's Movie and Video Guide, 2003
