New Times, 1954    Remembering Hope Ann Rigney, Emeritus Professor of Comparative Literature. Ann Rigney, 2025-10-24 In Remembering Hope Ann Rigney examines the role of storytelling in transferring hope in social transformation from one generation of activists to another. She uses the tools of cultural memory studies to explain how shared narratives about protest are produced using words, images, video and performance. Rigney's long term approach shows that cultural memory and activism are deeply entwined across generations and reveals how cultural memory work has been used as a form of resistance to historical outcomes and as a tool for kick starting older campaigns in new contexts. Above all the book challenges the assumption that grievance rather than active citizenship has always been at the heart of collective memory.

Mainstream, 1962    Sexual Revolutions G. Hekma, A. Gianni, 2014-05-13 Sexual Revolutions explores the sexual revolution of the late twentieth century in several European countries and the USA by engaging with themes from sexual freedom and abortion to pornography and sexual variation. This work discusses the involvement of youth, feminism, left liberalism, arts, science and religion in the process of sexual change.

France and the Visual Arts since 1945 Catherine Dossin, 2018-09-20 Taking on the myth of France's creative exhaustion following World War II this collection of essays brings together an international team of scholars whose research offers English readers a rich and complex overview of the place of France and French artists in the visual arts since 1945. Addressing a wide range of artistic practices spanning over seven decades and using different methodologies their contributions cover ground charted and unknown. They introduce greater depth and specificity to familiar artists and movements such as Lettrism Situationist International or Nouveau Realisme while bringing to the fore lesser known artists and groups including GRAPUS the Sociological Art Collective and Nicolas Schaffter. Collectively they stress the political dimensions and social ambitions of the art produced in France at the time deconstructing the traditional geography of the French art world and highlight the multiculturalism of the French art scene that resulted from its colonial past and the constant flux of artistic travels and migrations. Ultimately the book contributes to a story of postwar art in which France can be inscribed not as a main or sub chapter but rather as a vector in the wider constellation of modern and contemporary art. Public Organizations in the USSR Oleg Emel'yanovich Kutafin, Oleg Emil'yanovich Kutafin, Mark Arkad'evich Shafir, 1969. State and Society, 1983. News, 1955. Histoire de la France contemporaine: 1835-1871, 1977. Community Media? Paul Beaud, 1980.
