

Parsing

- The syntax of most programming languages can be specified by a context-free grammar (CGF)
- Parsing: Given a grammar G and a sentence w in $L(G)$, traverse the derivation (parse tree) for w in some standard order and do something useful at each node
 - The tree might not be produced explicitly, but the control flow of a parser corresponds to a traversal

Parsing Beyond Context Free Grammars Cognitive Technologies:

Parsing Beyond Context-Free Grammars Laura Kallmeyer, 2010-08-16 Given that context free grammars CFG cannot adequately describe natural languages grammar formalisms beyond CFG that are still computationally tractable are of central interest for computational linguists This book provides an extensive overview of the formal language landscape between CFG and PTIME moving from Tree Adjoining Grammars to Multiple Context Free Grammars and then to Range Concatenation Grammars while explaining available parsing techniques for these formalisms Although familiarity with the basic notions of parsing and formal languages is helpful when reading this book it is not a strict requirement The presentation is supported with many illustrations and examples relating to the different formalisms and algorithms and chapter summaries problems and solutions The book will be useful for students and researchers in computational linguistics and in formal language theory

Fundamentals of Computation Theory Ralf Klasing, Marc Zeitoun, 2017-08-28 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 21st International Symposium on Fundamentals of Computation Theory FCT 2017 held in Bordeaux France in September 2017 The 29 revised full papers and 5 invited papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 99 submissions The papers cover topics of all aspects of theoretical computer science in particular algorithms complexity formal and logical methods

Advances in Computational Intelligence Ildar Batyrshin, María de Lourdes Martínez-Villaseñor, Hiram Eredín Ponce Espinosa, 2019-01-02 The two volume set LNAI 11288 and 11289 constitutes the proceedings of the 17th Mexican International Conference on Artificial Intelligence MICAI 2018 held in Guadalajara Mexico in October 2018 The total of 62 papers presented in these two volumes was carefully reviewed and selected from 149 submissions The contributions are organized in topical as follows Part I evolutionary and nature inspired intelligence machine learning fuzzy logic and uncertainty management Part II knowledge representation reasoning and optimization natural language processing and robotics and computer vision

Languages and Automata Benjamin Steinberg, 2024-10-21 This reference discusses how automata and language theory can be used to understand solutions to solving equations in groups and word problems in groups Examples presented include how Fine scale complexity theory has entered group theory via these connections and how cellular automata has been generalized into a group theoretic setting Chapters written by experts in group theory and computer science explain these connections

Restarting Automata Friedrich Otto, 2024-10-29 The subject of this monograph are restarting automata The definition of these automata is motivated by the linguistic technique of analysis by reduction This technique which can be used to analyze sentences in natural languages with a rather free word order like Czech or Latin or German consists of a sequence of step by step simplifications of a given sentence Each of these simplifications is realized by a single reduction operation which consists of either the deletion of one or several words from that sentence or the replacement of a possibly discontinuous substring of that sentence by a shorter substring It is required that each application of such a reduction operation must preserve the

syntactical correctness of the sentence Accordingly a restarting automaton consists of a finite state control a flexible tape that initially contains the input and a read write window of a fixed finite size that works on that tape The first type of restarting automaton was presented at the international conference FCT in 1995 This type was required to restart as soon as it executes a rewrite operation that is the window jumps back to the left end of the tape and the finite state control is reset to the initial state Moreover each rewrite operation simply deletes one or more letters from the contents of the read write window Subsequently many different variants of the restarting automaton have been defined and studied In particular proper length reducing rewrite operations have replaced the original delete steps additional non input letters called auxiliary letters have been added to the alphabet and the original combined rewrite restart operation has been split into a rewrite operation and a separate restart operation Thus the restarting automaton is no longer just a particular type of automaton but it has evolved into a whole family of various types of automata that are specified through several parameters The objective of the current monograph is to collect the many results that have been obtained on the various types of restarting automata in one place and to present them in a uniform and systematic way In particular the influence of the various parameters on the expressive capacity of the resulting types of restarting automata is studied in detail Other topics include the descriptive complexity and inductive inference of certain types of restarting automata cooperating distributed and parallel communicating systems of restarting automata restarting automata with output weighted restarting automata and restarting automata for picture languages and tree languages This monograph may serve as a book of reference for researchers working in formal language and automata theory as a guide to the literature on restarting automata and as a text book for an advanced undergraduate or graduate course in formal language and automata theory
