Novel Biomarkers for Predicting Response to Cancer Immunotherapy Jinghua Pan,Fu Wang,Jian Song,2023-07-11

Immunotherapy has revolutionized the treatment of malignancies Targeting of immune checkpoints cytotoxic T lymphocyte associated protein 4 programmed cell death protein 1 PD 1 and its ligand PD L1 has led to improving survival in a subset of patients Despite their remarkable success clinical benefit remains limited to only a subset of patients A significant limitation behind these current treatment modalities is an irregularity in clinical response which is especially pronounced among checkpoint inhibition Currently relevant predictors of cancer immunotherapy response include microsatellite instability high deficient mismatch repair MSI H dMMR expression of PD L1 tumor mutation burden TMB immune genomic characteristics and tumor infiltrating lymphocytes TILs However none of them have sufficient evidence to be a stratification factor Moreover as the combined strategies for effective cancer immunotherapy had been developed in multiple tumors such as

Immunotherapy combined with chemotherapy radiotherapy targeted therapy and anti angiogenesis therapy Therefore the development of novel biomarkers endowed with high sensitivity specificity and accuracy able to identify which patients may truly benefit from the treatment with cancer immunotherapy would allow to refine the therapeutic selection and to better tailor the treatment strategy

Genomics Research on Non-Model Plant Pathogens: Delivering Novel Insights into Rust Fungus Biology Sébastien Duplessis,Guus Bakkeren,David L Joly,2016-04-14 Fungi of the order Pucciniales cause rust diseases on many plants including important crops and trees widely used in Agriculture forestry and bioenergy programs these encompass gymnosperms and angiosperms monocots and dicots perennial and annual plant species These fungi are obligate biotrophs and except for a few cases cannot be cultivated outside their hosts in a laboratory For this reason standard functional and molecular genetic approaches to study these pathogens are very challenging and the means to study their biology i e how they infect develop and reproduce on plant hosts are rather limited even though they rank among the most devastating pathogens Among fungal plant pathogens rust fungi display the most complex lifecycles for with up to five different spore forms and for many rust fungi alternate hosts on which sexual and clonal reproduction are achieved The genomics revolution and particularly the application of new generation sequencing technologies have greatly changed the way we now address biological studies and has in particular accelerated and made feasible molecular studies on non model species such as rust fungi The goal of this research topic is to gather articles that present recent advances in the understanding of rust fungus biology their complex lifecycles and obligate biotrophic interactions with their hosts through the means of genomics This includes genome sequencing and or resequencing of isolates RNA Seq or large scale transcriptome analyses genome scale detailed annotation of gene families conformation of genes and or expression of gene complements via proteomics and comparative analyses among the various rust fungi and where feasible with other obligate biotrophs or fungi displaying distinct trophic modes This Research Topic provides a great opportunity to provide an up to
