Declarative Logic-Programming Components for Information Agents Michael Fink,2002-12-30 Inhaltsangabe

Abstract At present the World Wide Web faces several problems regarding the search for specific information arising on the one hand from the vast number of information sources available and on the other hand from their intrinsic heterogeneity A promising approach for solving the complex problems emerging in this context is the use of information agents in a multi agent environment which cooperatively solve advanced information retrieval problems An intelligent information agent provides advanced capabilities resorting to some form of logical reasoning based on ad hoc knowledge about the task in question and on background knowledge of the domain suitably represented in a knowledge base In this thesis our interest is in the role which some methods from the field of declarative logic programming can play in the realization of reasoning capabilities for intelligent information agents We consider the task of updating extended logic programs ELPs since in order to ensure adaptivity an agent's knowledge base is subject to change To this end we develop update agents which follow a declarative update policy and are implemented in the IMPACT agent environment The proposed update agents adhere to a clear semantics and are able to deal with incomplete or inconsistent information in an appropriate way Furthermore we introduce a framework for reasoning about evolving knowledgebases which are represented as ELPs and maintained by an update policy We describe a formal model which captures various update approaches and define a logical language for expressing properties of evolving knowledge bases We further investigate these logical properties of knowledge states with respect to reasoning In particular we describe finitary characterizations of the knowledge evolution and derive complexity results for our framework Finally we consider a particular problem of information agents namely information source selection and develop an intelligent site selection agent We use ELPs for representing relevant knowledge and for declarative query analysis and query abstraction We define syntax and semantics of declarative site selection programs making use of advanced methods from answer set programming for priority handling and quantitative reasoning A site selection component is implemented on top of the DLV KR system and its plp front end for prioritized ELPs We report experimental results for this implementation
