Migration Settlement Concepts Routledge Geography:

Handbook on Home and Migration Paolo Boccagni, 2023-06-01 This dynamic Handbook unpacks the entanglements between the two notions of home and migration which illuminate the lived experiences of in voluntary mobilities and the contested terrain of inclusion and belonging Drawing on cross disciplinary contributions from leading international scholars it advances research on the social study of home in relation to migration refugee displacement and diaspora studies This title contains one or more Open Access chapters Migration, Settlement, and the Concepts of House and Home Iris Levin, 2015-11-19 How do migrants feel at home in their houses Literature on the migrant house and its role in the migrant experience of home building is inadequate This book offers a theoretical framework based on the notion of home building and the concepts of home and house embedded within it It presents innovative research on four groups of migrants who have settled in two metropolitan cities in two periods migrants from Italy migrated in the 1950s and 1960s and from mainland China migrated in the 1990s and 2000s in Melbourne Australia and migrants from Morocco migrated in the 1950s and 1960s and from the former Soviet Union migrated in the 1990s and 2000s in Tel Aviv Israel The analysis draws on qualitative data gathered from forty six in depth interviews with migrants in their home environments including extensive visual data Levin argues that the physical form of the house is meaningful in a range of diverse ways during the process of home building and that each migrant group constructs a distinct form of home building in their homes houses according to their specific circumstances of migration namely the origin country country of destination and period of migration as well as the historical economic and social contexts around migration Migration and Urban Transitions in Australia Iris Levin, Christian A. Nygaard, Peter W. Newton, Sandra M. Gifford, 2022-05-25 This book offers a critical reflection on the ways in which migration has shaped Australia s cities especially over the past twenty years Australian cities are among the world s most culturally diverse and are home to most of the nation s population This edited collection brings together contemporary research carried out by scholars across a range of diverse disciplines all of whom are concerned with the intersections between migration and urban change The chapters are organised under three sections demographic settlement and environmental transitions urban form and housing transitions and socio cultural transitions Drawing on diverse theoretical and methodological approaches the chapters engage with a range of factors and influences affecting migration and urban development This book will be of special interest to scholars and practitioners in the disciplines of sociology urban planning geography public policy and environmental sustainability Making Home(s) in Displacement Luce Beeckmans, Alessandra Gola, Ashika Singh, Hilde Heynen, 2022-01-17 Making Home s in Displacement critically rethinks the relationship between home and displacement from a spatial material and architectural perspective Recent scholarship in the social sciences has investigated how migrants and refugees create and reproduce home under new conditions thereby unpacking the seemingly contradictory positions of making a home and overcoming its loss Yet making home s in displacement is also a spatial practice one which intrinsically relates to the fabrication of the built environment worldwide Conceptually the book is divided along four spatial sites referred to as camp shelter city and house which are approached with a multitude of perspectives ranging from urban planning and architecture to anthropology geography philosophy gender studies and urban history all with a common focus on space and spatiality By articulating everyday homemaking experiences of migrants and refugees as spatial practices in a variety of geopolitical and historical contexts this edited volume adds a novel perspective to the existing interdisciplinary scholarship at the intersection of home and displacement It equally intends to broaden the canon of architectural histories and theories by including migrants and refugees spatial agencies and place making practices to its annals By highlighting the political in the spatial and vice versa this volume sets out to decentralise and decolonise current definitions of home and displacement striving for a more pluralistic outlook on the idea of home

Home Alison Blunt, Robyn Dowling, 2022-05-30

Home articulates a critical geography of home in which home is understood as an emotive place and spatial imaginary that encompasses lived experiences of everyday domestic life alongside a wider and often contested sense of being and belonging in the world Engaging with the burgeoning cross disciplinary interest in home since the first edition was published this significantly revised and updated second edition contains new research boxes illustrations and contemporary examples throughout It also adds a new chapter on Home and the City that extends the scalar understanding of home to the urban The book develops the conceptual and methodological underpinnings of a critical geography of home drawing on key feminist postcolonial and housing thinkers as well as contemporary methodological currents in non representational thinking and performance The book's chapters consider the making and unmaking of home across the domestic scale house as home the urban city as home national nation as home and homemaking in relation to transnational migration and diaspora Each chapter includes illustrative examples from diverse geographical contexts and historical time periods Chapters also address some of the key cross cutting dimensions of home across these scales including digital connectivity art and performance more than human constructions of home and violence and dispossession The book ends with a research agenda for home in a world of COVID 19 The book provides an understanding of home that has three intersecting dimensions that material and imaginative geographies of home are closely intertwined that home power and identity are intimately linked and that geographies of home are multi scalar This framework the examples used to illustrate it and the intended audience of academics and students across the humanities and social sciences will together shape the field of home studies into the future

Geographic Thought Tim Cresswell, 2012-11-05 This engaging and accessible introduction to geographic thought explores the major thinkers and key theoretical developments in the field of human geography Covers the complete range of the development of theoretical knowledge of the field from ancient geography to contemporary non representational theory Presents theories in an accessible manner through the author's engaging writing style Examines the influence of Darwin and Marx the emergence of anarchist geographies the impact of feminism and myriad other important bodies of thought Stresses the importance of geographic thought and its relevance to our understanding of what it is to be human and to the people places and cultures of the world in which we live

Everyday Equalities Ruth Fincher, Kurt Iveson, Helga Leitner, Valerie Preston, 2019-08-13 A timely new look at coexisting without assimilating in multicultural cities If city life is a being together of strangers what forms of being together should we strive for in cities with ethnic and racial diversity Everyday Equalities seeks evidence of progressive political alternatives to racialized inequality that are emerging from everyday encounters in Los Angeles Melbourne Sydney and Toronto settler colonial cities that established through efforts to dispossess and eliminate indigenous societies have been destinations for waves of immigrants from across the globe ever since Everyday Equalities finds such alternatives being developed as people encounter one another in the process of making a home earning a living moving around the city and forming collective actions or communities Here four leading scholars in critical urban geography come together to deliver a powerful and cohesive message about the meaning of equality in contemporary cities Drawing on both theoretical reflection and urban ethnographic research they offer the formulation being together in difference as equals as a normative frame to reimagine the meaning and pursuit of equality in today's urban multicultures As the examples in Everyday Equalities indicate much emotional labor combined with a willingness to learn from each other negotiate across differences and agitate for change goes into constructing environments that foster being together in difference as equals Importantly the authors argue a commitment to equality is not only a hope for a future city but also a way of being together in the present

Geography for Educators Susan Wiley Hardwick, Donald G. Holtgrieve, 1996 This book links the new National Geography Standards with the five Fundamental Themes of Geography using a systematic approach that builds from basic knowledge to more complex explaining the physical cultural and economic systems that interrelate and operate on the planet It encourages teachers to move beyond the traditional stereotype of geography as place memorization toward conceptual thinking about how Earth systems work Discusses the importance of geographic literacy in an era of increasingly important global interconnections Surveys the historic role of geography education in North American schools and provides examples of how geography is taught in other countries Covers geographic education revolution in the United States Interrelates the Five Themes of Geography and the eighteen National Geography Standards into a uniform and convenient structure for the study of any place or any topic from a geographic perspective Location Place Human Environment Interaction Movement and Region For educators or teacher certification programs

The Geographical Impact of Migration Paul E. White, Robert Woods, 1980

Geography Harm J. de Blij, Peter O. Muller, 2003-11-14 Each chapter has been thoroughly revised to reflect the changing cultural political and physical landscape of our world Increased coverage of environmental change and the risks that the planet faces with 6.2 billion people This new eleventh edition places more emphasis on critical thinking human geography and environmental issues

Migration Michael Samers, Michael Collyer, 2016-12-08 While the subject of migration has received enormous attention in academic journals and books across the social sciences introductory texts on the matter are few and far between Even fewer books have explored migration through a critical and explicit engagement with spatial concepts Now in its second edition Migration remains the only text in more than a decade that emphasizes how geographical or spatial concepts can be used critically to understand migration The multi disciplinary text draws on insights from human geography political science social anthropology sociology and to a lesser extent economics All of the chapters focus on key terms theories concepts and issues concerning migration and immigration The book argues that in the context of migration two opposing spatial positions have emerged in the wake of the critique of methodological nationalism On one hand is the significance of transnationalism and on the other the importance of sub national or local processes Both require more nuance and integration while many of the concepts and theories which have thus far neglected space or have not been treated spatially need to be re written with space in mind Pedagogically the text combines a carefully defined structure accessible language boxes that explore case studies of migrant related experiences in particular places annotated suggestions for further reading useful websites and relevant films and summary questions for student learning at the end of each chapter Migration provides a critical multi disciplinary advanced and theoretically informed introduction to migration and immigration Revised and updated with new material new maps and illustrations and an accompanying website <https://migration2ndedition.wordpress.com> it continues to be aimed at advanced undergraduates and Masters level graduate students undertaking courses on migration and immigration
