Military Adaptation In War With Fear Of Change:

Military Adaptation In War: With Fear Of Change Professor Williamson Murray, 2015-11-06 Military Adaptation in War addresses one of the most persistent problems that military organizations confront namely the problem of how to adapt under the trying terrifying conditions of war This work builds on the volume that Professor Williamson Murray edited with Allan Millett on military innovation a quite different issue though similar in some respects In Clausewitzian terms war is a contest an interactive duel which is of indeterminate length and presents a series of intractable problems at every level from policy and strategy down to the tactical Moreover the fact that the enemy is adapting at the same time presents military organizations with an ever changing set of conundrums that offer up no easy solutions As the British general James Wolfe suggested before Quebec War is an option of difficulties Dr Murray provides an in depth analysis of the problems that military forces confront in adapting to these difficulties Military Adaptation in War Williamson Murray, 2011-10-10

Mars Adapting Francis Hoffman, 2021-03-15 As Clausewitz observed In war more than anywhere else things do not turn out as we expect The essence of war is a competitive reciprocal relationship with an adversary Commanders and institutional leaders must recognize shortfalls and resolve gaps rapidly in the middle of the fog of war The side that reacts best and absorbs faster increases its chances of winning Mars Adapting examines what makes some military organizations better at this contest than others It explores the institutional characteristics or attributes at play in learning quickly Adaptation requires a dynamic process of acquiring knowledge the utilization of that knowledge to alter a unit s skills and the sharing of that learning to other units to integrate and institutionalize better operational practice Mars Adapting explores the internal institutional factors that promote and enable military adaptation It employs four cases drawing upon one from each of the U S armed services Each case was an extensive campaign with several cycles of action counteraction In each case the military institution entered the war with an existing mental model of the war they expected to fight For example the U S Navy prepared for decades to defeat the Japanese Imperial Navy and had developed carrier based aviation Other capabilities particularly the Fleet submarine were applied as a major adaptation The author establishes a theory called Organizational Learning Capacity that captures the transition of experience and knowledge from individuals into larger and higher levels of each military service through four major steps The learning change cycle is influenced he argues by four institutional attributes leadership organizational culture learning mechanisms and dissemination mechanisms The dynamic interplay of these institutional enablers shaped their ability to perceive and change appropriately Understanding Battlefield

Coalitions Rosella Cappella Zielinski,Ryan Grauer,2023-09-11 This book improves our understanding of battlefield coalitions providing novel theoretical and empirical insight into their nature and capabilities as well as the military and political consequences of their combat operations The volume provides the first dataset of battlefield coalitions uses primary sources to understand how non state actors of varying types form such groupings reports interviews with policymakers illuminating North Atlantic Treaty Organization operations and uses cases studies of various wars waged throughout the nineteenth twentieth and twenty first centuries to understand how other such collectives have operated Part I introduces battlefield coalitions as an object of study demonstrating how they are distinct from other wartime collectives Using a novel dataset of actors fighting in 492 battles during interstate wars waged between 1900 and 2003 it provides for the first time a comprehensive portrait of the universe of battlefield coalitions Part II explores processes and dynamics involved in the formation of battlefield coalitions addressing how potential coalition members prepare for future battles in peacetime as well as the consequences of such preparations and the dynamics of mission design Part III focuses on how battlefield coalitions are organised and fight when combat ensues notably their decision making rules and practices command structures and learning capacities Part IV addresses three curious tendencies observed in the operations of battlefield coalitions partners under providing effort in combat rebels and terrorist networks persisting in cooperation even when their interests diverge and members defecting from the collective Part V concludes with a chapter outlining for future researchers what we know about battlefield coalitions and what remains to be understood This book will be of much interest to students of military and strategic studies defence studies and International Relations Naval War College Review ,2016 U.S. Naval
