Nhl Opening Night Act Practice Update:

40 Years of Relative Age Effects in Sport: Lessons from the Past and Directions for the Future Adam Leigh Kelly, Joe Baker, Kathryn Johnston, Alexander B. T. McAuley, 2025-12-18 You can submit your manuscript through either Frontiers in Sports and Active Living or Frontiers in Psychology Please select the journal that best aligns with the focus of your research when you click submit 2024 marks the 40th anniversary of Grondin Deshaies and Nault's 1984 seminal work on relative age effects in sport During their study of competitive youth and professional ice hockey and volleyball in North America Grondin and colleagues showed how those born in the first months of the selection year were overrepresented whereas those born in the last months of the selection year were underrepresented in ice hockey although such discrepancies were not observed in their volleyball sample Shortly after Barnsley Thompson and Barnsley 1985 reaffirmed these results in North American ice hockey whereby they showed similar findings which they termed as relative age effects Barnsley and colleagues suggested how the age band structures used to group athletes leads to a number of potentially talented ice hockey players not achieving the level of performance that would accurately reflect their ability Since then these two inaugural studies have inspired and informed hundreds of relative age research methodologies across the globe Despite their initial warnings however these effects have proven very difficult to reduce or eliminate in high performance sport systems The current relative age research field has consistently reaffirmed some important realities Most noteworthy relative age effects are widespread throughout boys and girls sport and are having important implications on the identification selection and development of young athletes This is having a direct impact on the long term performance participation and personal development outcomes in sport too Moreover relative age effects are often magnified in more popular sports i.e. basketball football rugby and when competition level increases i.e. progress into talent pathways Whilst there is considerable research that has identified relative age effects across different sport contexts and despite consistent recommendations from researchers and practitioners little has been done to examine and employ potential solutions In addition although there are some hypothetical explanatory efforts limited empirical studies are available to show the exact causes of relative age effects in youth sport Such studies would offer value in helping us to create possible solutions for different sports and settings The 40th anniversary of the original studies on relative age effects in sport offers a timely opportunity to reflect on what has evolved in both research and practice It also provides an impetus to look forward to ensure we are creating effective and efficient development pathways for all athletes In order to realise these aims it will be important for this research topic to capture methodologies that review the widespread literature across different sport settings as well as implement theoretical frameworks to help better understand how relative age effects occur Furthermore in order to impact real life settings i.e. not just on paper but what is reflected in practice we must design implement and evaluate different relative age solutions across all sporting environments Since different sports are likely to require bespoke solutions e.g. age and anthropometric bandings

may be more suitable for team sports whereas birthday banding corrective adjustments and proficiency level based competition may be more useful for racket timed and combat sports respectively it will be important to continue examining the mechanisms of relative age effects through multi inter disciplinary perspectives e g technical tactical physical psychological social so targeted strategies can be developed Whilst we welcome submissions from a diverse range of research methodologies potential contributions are expected to align with one of the following five areas 1 Offer theoretically driven perspectives of relative age effects 2 Examine multi inter disciplinary characteristics that contribute towards relative age effects 3 Design implement and or evaluate relative age strategies and solutions 4 Explore the direct i e related to the athlete e g maturational dis advantages and indirect i e related to the environment e g coach perceptions that an athlete is more talented effects of relative age to help explain how they occur 5 Synthesise areas of relative age research in sport through reviews

American Druggist and Pharmaceutical Record ,1897 Dictionary of Dates and Universal Information Relating to All Ages and Nations Joseph Haydn,1892 Cornell Magazine ,1994 The NHL D'Arcy Jenish,2013-10-29 The National Hockey League born in a Montreal hotel room on November 26 1917 has much to celebrate as it approaches its centenary Millions of fans from Montreal to Miami and Edmonton to Anaheim attend NHL games leach year millions more watch on TV and the league pays its best players multi million annual salaries Over the course of its first century the NHL s fortunes have ebbed and flowed It has experienced setbacks and triumphs and innumerable crises The league has awarded many franchises only to see some of them falter fail and fold The board of governors which has included rich eccentrics and at least one future convict has sometimes been fractured by men who loathed each other How on earth has the NHL survived The answer lies in the remarkable fact that it has had only five presidents and one commissioner Two of these chiefs were stop gaps For the balance of league s ninety plus years four men have shaped and guided its fortunes and controlled the tough hard nosed sometimes unruly owners who constituted the board of governors This is the story of two perpetual struggles the one on the ice and the one going on behind the scenes to keep the whole enterprise afloat D Arcy Jenish was granted unprecedented access to previously unpublished league files including revelatory minutes of board meetings and conducted dozens of hours of interviews with league executives including commissioner Gary Bettman and former president John Ziegler as well as well as owners coaches general managers and player representatives He now reveals for the first time the true story behind some of the most significant events of the contemporary era This is a definitive revelatory chonicle that no serious hockey fan will want to be without
