Pivoting and Producing for Online TV

Alexa Scarlata, 2025-05-02 The introduction and diffusion of international subscription video on demand SVOD services in the 2010s represented the most significant disruption of established national broadcast and pay TV ecologies in their long history Using an in depth Australian case study this book narrates this profound period of proliferation It also considers how incumbent commercial networks pay TV providers and public service broadcasters developed into online TV providers albeit in assorted ways In so doing it conceives of the early impact of online TV 2015 2020 more broadly and acknowledges the role of both new and old TV players The industry wide shift towards online TV over this period also impacted existing television drama production cultures SVOD services provided a fruitful avenue for the distribution of existing archives and slowly began to support the production of new Australian content with an increasingly global focus However the formal arrival of online TV certainly did not usher in the boom in original local television drama many anticipated Pivoting and Producing for Online TV Australia's Transition advances the macro analysis of television production strategies This book will be useful to students and researchers interested in media film and cultural studies

Blossfeld, Götz Rohwer, Gwendolin J. Blossfeld, 2025-07-28 This third edition of Causal Analysis with Event History Data Using Stata provides an updated introduction to event history modeling along with many instructive Stata examples Using the latest Stata software each of these practical examples develops a research question points to useful contextual background information gives a brief account of the underlying statistical concepts describes the organization of input data and the application of Stata statistical procedures and assists the reader in interpreting the content of the results obtained. Emphasizing the strengths and limitations of continuous time event history analysis in different fields of social science applications, this book demonstrates that event history models provide a useful approach to uncover causal relationships or to map a system of causal relationships. In particular, this book demonstrates how long term processes can be studied, how different forms of duration dependencies can be estimated using nonparametric, parametric and semiparametric models, and how parallel and interdependent dynamic systems can be analyzed from a causal analytical point of view using the method of episode splitting. The book also shows how changing contextual information at the micro, meso and macro levels can be easily integrated into a dynamic analysis of longitudinal data. Finally, the book addresses the problem of unobserved heterogeneity of time constant and time dependent omitted variables and makes suggestions for dealing with these sometimes difficult methodological problems. Causal Analysis with Event History Data Using Stata is an invaluable resource for both novice and experienced researchers from a variety of fields e.g. sociology, economics, political science, education, psychology, demography, epidemiology, management research and organizational studies as well as medicine and clinical applications who need an introductory textbook on continuous time event history analysis and who are looking for a practical handbook for their longitudinal research. Aeronautical Engineering Review, 1957 Global Strategy Sali Li, Noman
