Ongoing Research in Jawed Fish Immunity: Structural and Functional Studies at the Protein and Cellular Levels Monica Imarai, Brian Dixon, 2020-06-04 Knowledge of jawed fish immune systems obtained in the last 15 years has been mostly obtained through the sequencing of genomes of different fish species and from the use of high throughput techniques such as transcriptomic analysis and RNA sequencing which has allowed characterization of immune gene responses at the transcriptomic level. Although these have been important tools for exploring the complexities of the immune responses of fish species, the next generation of knowledge requires the use of new tools and methods capable of unveiling the diversity of immune cells and molecules in jawed fish, the network of interactions and responses and the mechanisms leading to immune protection against pathogens. For more than 10 years, many laboratories have been engaged in developing antibodies against key molecules of jawed fish immune systems in several different species because the lack of sequence conservation of most immune genes makes it impossible to use the large panel of antibodies against mammalian molecules for recognition of fish molecules. The numerous genes encoding cytokines and receptors have now been used to make recombinant proteins available, allowing studies of the complex network of cytokine and receptor functions central to fish immune responses. From many laboratories, new and interesting knowledge about immune cells, their functions and interactions can be studied with the availability of new tools and methods. This has begun to provide a clear understanding of fish immunity at the protein and cellular levels. This Research Topic gives a comprehensive overview of the current knowledge of jawed fish immune responses with a particular emphasis on structural and functional studies at the protein and cellular levels.

A Year in Review: Discussions in Immunological Memory Scott N. Mueller, 2022-11-30     Targeting DNA damage response to enhance antitumor innate immunity in radiotherapy Qiang Zhang, Rachel Evans, Marco Tigano, 2023-09-08     Evidence Based Dermatology Howard I. Maibach, 2011 Evidence based thinking in clinical medicine has impacted greatly on the physician's approach to clinical care. Evidence Based Dermatology introduces and encourages the concept of evidence based patient care in dermatology. Incorporating a text that is much more than merely the summary of trial data, the authors worked to explore disease mechanisms and treatments in greater depth and detail in order to provide more insight for the reader. In addition to promoting the understanding of the evidence based philosophy, the authors have focused on some of the fundamentals in dermatology that need to be approached differently. Issues such as the interpretation of clinical research, disease oriented evidence versus patient care evidence and the use of placebo are examined.     Issues and Challenges in NSCLC Immunotherapy Paweł Adam Krawczyk, Qing Zhou, Rafal Dziadziuszko, Natasha Leighl, 2021-12-06     How to Beat Arthritis with Immune Power Boosters Carlson Wade, 1989     The Active Female Jacalyn J.
