CYBER CRIME AGAINST WOMEN IN INDIA

-INVESTIGATIVE AND LEGISLATIVE CHALLENGES Adv. Shruti Bist, 2020-07-25 The Internet's increasing scope, the rapid proliferation of ICTs for mobile information and communications technologies and the wide distribution of social media have created new opportunities. Cyber VAWG is emerging as a global issue with serious implications for global societies and economies. Cyber crimes targeting women and children are on the rise. 1 In the online world, women and children have been found to be very gullible with cybercrimes against women and children witnessing a sharp rise in the last few years. Women are usually subjected to cybercrimes such as cyber harassment, online stalking, cyber pornography, cyber defamation, matrimonial fraud and much more. The right to the Internet is a human right as declared in June 2016 by the United Nations Council on Human Rights. The cyber world as such has a virtual reality where anyone can hide or even falsify their identity; this internet gift is used by the criminally minded to commit wrongdoing and then hide under the internet's blanket. The paper identifies common forms of cyber crimes against women such as cyber stalking, cyber pornography, circulating images, morphing, sending obscene, defamatory, annoying messages, online trolling, bullying, blackmailing, threat or intimidation, and email spoofing and impersonation. It recommends further steps that need to be taken to deal holistically and effectively with cybercrimes against women. While India's Internet population may explode, social network users experience a looming gender imbalance. This can be seen in areas such as the number of internet users, the number of users on Facebook and Twitter, digital literacy and political tweets. Cybercrimes generally incepted by fake IDs generated on Facebook, Twitter and other social media sites that cause severe harm to women: severe blackmailing, intimidation, bullying or cheating via messenger messages and email are committed by the perpetrators. Ill-intentioned people commit these cyber crimes with mischievous intent such as illicit gain, vengeance, insult to a woman's dignity, extort, blackmail, defamation and steal information.

Handbook of Research on Technical, Privacy, and Security Challenges in a Modern World Tyagi, Amit Kumar, 2022-06-30

More individuals than ever are utilizing internet technologies to work from home, teach and learn, shop, interact with peers, review medical records and more. While it is certainly convenient to conduct such tasks via the internet, this increased internet presence has also led to a rise in the search and availability of personal information, which in turn is resulting in more cyber attacks, privacy breaches and information leaks. Cyber criminals are using such opportunities to attack governments, organizations and individuals, making it necessary to anticipate, assess and mitigate privacy and security threats during this infodemic. The Handbook of Research on Technical Privacy and Security Challenges in a Modern World discusses the design and development of different machine learning systems, including next-generation applications, in order to mitigate cyber attacks and address security challenges in everyday technologies. It further explores select methods and algorithms of learning for implementing better security methods in fields such as business and healthcare. It recognizes the future of privacy and the importance of preserving data through recommended practice feedback loops and smart agents Covering topics such as face mask detection gesture recognition and botnet attacks and detection this major reference work is a dynamic resource for medical professionals healthcare administrators government officials business executives and managers IT managers students and faculty of higher education librarians researchers and academicians

Influenza Virus Vaccines and Immunotherapies Arun Kumar, Shakti Singh, 2016-03-15 Influenza virus infections lead to thousands of deaths worldwide annually and billions of dollars economic burden Despite continuing advances in our understanding of the immune evasion mechanism the disease remains one of the foremost threat for human being Traditional vaccines attenuated and inactivated mainly provide protection by inducing virus neutralizing antibodies targeting ever changing surface antigens Haemagultinin HA and Neuraminidase NA Due to genetic shift and immune selection pressure prevalence of circulating influenza virus subtypes changes every year Therefore mismatch between circulating strain and vaccine strain can critically affect the success rate of these conventional flu vaccines and requires continuous monitoring of circulating influenza virus subtypes and change in the vaccine formulations accordingly The collective limitations of existing flu vaccines urgently call for the development of a novel universal vaccines that might provide the required protective immunity to a range of influenza virus subtypes New approaches are being investigated mainly targeting conserved regions of flu proteins Some of these approaches include universally conserved epitopes of HA nucleoprotein NP capsid protein M1 and ion channel protein M2 that induced strong immune responses in animal models Some attention and progress appears to be focused on vaccines based on the M2 ectodomain M2e employing a variety of constructs adjuvants and delivery systems including M2e hepatitis B core antigen flagellin constructs and virus like particles VLP Animal studies with these M2e candidate vaccines demonstrated that these vaccine candidates can prevent severe illness and death but not infection which may pose difficulties in both the evaluation of clinical efficacy and approval by the regulatory authorities VLP vaccines appear to be promising but still are mostly limited to animal studies The discovery and development of new and improved vaccines have been greatly facilitated by the application of new technologies The use of nucleic acid based vaccines to combine the benefits of in situ expression of antigens with the safety of inactivated and subunit vaccines has been a key advancement Upon their discovery more than 20 years ago nucleic acid vaccines promised to be a safe and effective mean to mimic immunization with a live organism vaccine particularly for induction of T cell immunity In addition the manufacturing of nucleic acid based vaccines offered the potential to be relatively simple inexpensive and generic Reverse Vaccinology and in silico designing of vaccines are very innovative approaches and being considered as future of vaccines Furthermore various immuno therapeutic agents also being developed to treat and minimize immuno pathological damage in patients suffering from life threatening complications For the treatment of such pathological conditions various novel approaches such as administration of immune suppressive cytokines blocking co stimulatory signals or activating co inhibitory signal of T cell activation are being tested both in lab and
