Neurological and Neuropsychiatric Disorders Affecting Military Personnel and Veterans Mary Jo Pugh, William Walker, Venkatagiri Krishnamurthy, Lisa C. Krishnamurthy, Chen Lin, 2024-03-20 Active military personnel and Veterans of the military face unique neurologic and neuropsychiatric challenges unique to this population compared to the public. The military and Veteran population have faced traumatic experiences that lead to both physical and mental consequences. Amongst the important challenges unique to this population include traumatic brain injury, increased risk of neurological disorders such as dementia and stroke, and comorbid neuropsychiatric conditions. Unfortunately, many of these challenges also have a negative feedback loop such as brain injuries leading to post-traumatic stress disorder, which can increase the risk of Alzheimer's and dementia. Unfortunately, there are many gaps in knowledge to understand the unique challenges this population faces. There are many opportunities to improve our understanding of these challenges that military personnel and Veterans face. The goal of this Research Topic is to shine a light and improve understanding of these challenges. We aim to collect knowledge from the global network of researchers working on topics related to Neurological and Neuropsychiatric disorders affecting military personnel and Veterans. There are currently many gaps in the diagnosis, prevention, and treatment of conditions that affect this population disproportionately. This collection of work in the Frontiers in Neurology will give authors the opportunity to share with the global scientific community important research findings that address these gaps. For this collection, we are looking for submissions with topics that specifically address the unique challenges affecting military personnel and Veterans with Neurologic and Neuropsychiatric disorders.

Current Management in Child Neurology (Bernard L. Maria, 2009) One in ten children seen in primary care practice and 25% of hospitalized children appear with a neurologic complaint. The fourth edition of Current Management in Child Neurology provides succinct reviews in the form of superb how-to chapters on the most common neurological complaints and pathologic conditions seen in pediatric practice. This volume provides clinicians with a state-of-the-art toolbox for diagnosis and treatment of the most commonly presented neurologic disorders and dysfunctions in children, including headache, seizures, and epilepsy; neurobehavioral disorders; school readiness; developmental delay; trauma; meningitis; and encephalitis; injury to the preterm and term brains; and status epilepticus. Chapters new to the 4th edition include information on a range of other conditions such as microcephaly, neurodegenerative disorders, chromosomal disorders, epilepsy in adolescence, epileptic encephalopathy, pediatric neurotransmitter disorders, and tropical child neurology, as well as current approaches to neonatal or infantile facial dysmorphism and congenital muscular dystrophies. The 4th edition of Current Management in Child Neurology has 111 chapters organized into three sections: Clinical Practice Trends, The Office Visit, and The Hospitalized Child. Each of the sections contains carefully selected readings and Web resources for practitioners and patients who seek relevant information on topics addressed in the book's chapters. Since the third edition, online resources have increased exponentially, and Current Management in Child Neurology directs its readers to the most high-quality information available.

Cancer Neurology in Clinical Practice (David Schiff, Isabel Arrillaga, Patrick Y. Wen, 2017-09-16) This updated edition provides clinicians from various backgrounds and levels of training the information needed to optimally diagnose and manage neurologic complications of the nervous system. Organized into seven sections this comprehensive volume begins with an overview of diagnostic studies for neurologic complications involving the nervous system. That is followed by sections on metastatic and non metastatic complications of cancer involving the nervous system and the interpretation diagnosis and management of common neuro oncologic symptoms. The next section reviews the neurologic complications of cancer therapy including corticosteroids, radiation therapy, chemotherapy, targeted molecular therapies, immunotherapies, hematopoietic stem cell transplantation and infections involving the nervous system. The final section focuses on the most important neurologic complications in cancers arising from specific organs. In addition to capturing the latest advancements in the rapidly evolving fields of oncology and cancer neurology the goal of this resource is to lead clinicians toward prompt diagnosis and intervention in order to improve patient quality of life. This textbook is a valuable resource for medical oncologists and radiation oncologists as well as neurologists and neuro oncologists dealing with these patients. Overall the chapters are well organized, clearly written, fairly balanced and reasonably up to date. I would recommend it as a learning tool to physicians in training, medical students, residents and fellows and for more experienced physicians as both a review update and a way to gain more in depth knowledge and insight into the neurologic problems of cancer patients. John C Flickinger International Journal of Radiation Oncology Biology Physics Vol 73 2 2009. The general organization of the book is logical and facilitates its practical and everyday use. Overall this textbook is very comprehensive and encompasses main neuro oncological challenges. Schiff, Kesari and Wen have edited a very elegant and highly practical textbook written by recognized authorities in their respective fields which will be used by a wide range of medical and surgical specialists who are confronted on a daily basis with neurological manifestations of cancer in their practice. I Radovanovic and G Zadeh British Journal of Cancer Vol 100 6 2009
