We Now Disrupt This Broadcast Amanda D. Lotz, 2018-04-06 The collision of new technologies changing business strategies and innovative storytelling that produced a new golden age of TV Cable television channels were once the backwater of American television programming recent and not so recent movies and reruns of network shows Then came La Femme Nikita OZ The Sopranos Mad Men Game of Thrones and The Walking Dead And then just as prestige cable became a category came House of Cards and Netflix Hulu Amazon Video and other Internet distributors of television content What happened In We Now Disrupt This Broadcast Amanda Lotz chronicles the collision of new technologies changing business strategies and innovative storytelling that produced an era termed peak TV Lotz explains that changes in the business of television expanded the creative possibilities of television She describes the costly infrastructure rebuilding undertaken by cable service providers in the late 1990s and the struggles of cable channels to produce and pay for original scripted programming in order to stand out from the competition These new programs defied television conventions and made viewers adjust their expectations of what television could be Le Femme Nikita offered cable's first antihero Mad Men cost more than advertisers paid The Walking Dead became the first mass cable hit and Game of Thrones was the first global television blockbuster Internet streaming didn't kill cable Lotz tells us Rather it revolutionized how we watch television Cable and network television quickly established their own streaming portals Meanwhile cable service providers had quietly transformed themselves into Internet providers able to profit from both prestige cable and streaming services Far from being dead television continues to transform

Digital Platforms and the Global South Philippe Bouquillion, Christine Ithurbide, Tristan Mattelart, 2023-12-01 This book addresses the issues raised by digital platforms in the Global South with an emphasis on the cultural stakes involved It brings together an interdisciplinary team of researchers including political economists socio economists geographers media sociologists or anthropologists who each explore these issues through an insightful case study at a local national regional or international scale While studying the strategies of some of the main US based Big Tech platforms or video streaming platforms towards the Global South the chapters also consider the often neglected active role local or regional actors play in the expansion of those Western digital players and highlight the existence of a constellation of local or regional platforms that have emerged in Africa Asia Latin America or the Middle East In addition to analysing the complex relationships of competition collaboration or dependence between these diverse actors this volume examines the ways in which the rise of these digital platforms has generated new forms of cultural entrepreneurship and participated in the reconfiguring of the conditions in which cultural contents are produced and circulated in the Global South This volume will appeal to readers interested in the transnationalisation of cultural industries or in the social political economic cultural and geopolitical dimensions of digital transformations and will be an important resource for students teachers and researchers in media communication cultural studies international relations and area studies programmes The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license
