Stacey Pierson,2022-08-25 This collection of essays examines aspects of the history of food and drink in China through an innovative interdisciplinary lens Arranged in chronological and thematic order the chapters present the research of a diverse group of international scholars and cover subjects ranging from Han period tomb paintings jade goblets used for ceremonial elixirs and pottery figurines of kitchen servants to Tang gold vessels Ming porcelain wine cups and 18th century imperial tea houses This volume can therefore be read as a material history of Chinese food and drink through utensils and ingredients such as tea and wine as well as a developmental survey of drinking and dining practices food cultures and culinary concepts in historical China It will appeal to anyone with an interest in Chinese culinary history Chinese art and archaeology as well as world food cultures

Education of Cancer Healing Vol. I - Wake Up Call Peter Havasi,    Calvinism and the Arts

Christopher Richard Joby,2007 It is often thought that the French Reformer John Calvin 1509 1564 had a negative attitude towards the arts particularly visual art However in Calvinism and the Arts A Re assessment Dr Joby argues that in Calvin s writings and in the development of the Reformed tradition more generally it is possible to discern a more positive attitude than has hitherto been recognized He makes a start by examining exactly what type of visual art Calvin rejected and what type he affirmed He goes on to consider how Calvin s epistemology and eschatology can be used to argue for the placing of certain types of art notably histories and landscape paintings within Reformed churches and then devotes separate chapters to reflecting on how music architecture and church decoration within the Reformed tradition provide further arguments for the use of these works of art In the final section he looks at specific histories and landscapes from the Dutch Golden Age and considers how the form and content of both of these types of art provide us with further ontological and epistemological arguments which inevitably lead to the conclusion that their continued exclusion from Reformed churches is no longer tenable
