D. Measurement - looking for some certain things.
Example: Student who is weighed on scale.

1. Reliability: consistency of a measure.

2. Validity: does a measure truly assess quality that it's claimed to measure? Truthfulness of a measure.

3. Accuracy: agreement with a known standard (process of calibration).

Focus remains with these two because the 3rd will often be disputed.

E. Testable Questions -
Can hypothesis is / claim be falsified at least in principle (falsifiability) by Carl

F. Public Reporting: Many places they can publish.

- Peer reviewed journals (most esteemed)
- Sci are proud and want to get it out
- Want to establish reputation
- We have to be aware of knowledge in order to advance and build on science.

- Allows others to make their own judgments even if original peer review.

- Allows sci to learn about findings and evaluate quality of

Questions

Monitor in Psychology (Magazine)

I listed this section. Questions, but I often write other misc things that I want to remember here. I think of it as a multi-purpose column.

I didn't hear the last name of someone the professor mentioned during lecture so I left a blank space. If I think the name is important I can fill it in later if its mentioned or I know what to ask the prof later on.

Textbook Notes

B. Science makes systematic observations
- Scientists' systematic observations include:

- precise definitions of phenomena being observed
- reliable + valid measuring tools that yield useful + interpretable data
- generally accepted methodologies
- Systematic logic for drawing conclusions and fitting these into general theories.

C. Science Produces Public Knowledge

- An objective observation is one who is completely objective (like Paired thoughts). It just means something that can be verified by more than 1 observer.
- Done through replication where someone redoes another's study and gets same results.
- Replication can only be done if they know precisely what was done. This is done by rules that are found in Publication Manual of APA.

Psychological Science (Peer Reviewed journal)

When I take a break from reading, I like to leave a note to remind me where I left off.

Highlight key terms that I think might be important

In introspection: a form of precise self-report.

The problem w/ introspect is that its subjective and not verifiable. John B. Watson concluded that something can only be "scientific" if its directly observable and can be verified.

Watson felt behavior was the key for this. So he became the founder of behaviorism. Now we observe behav instead of introspect.

D. Science Produces Data-Based Conclusions -

- Scientists are data-driven
- Conclusions about behav need to be supported by some evidence.

I failed to do this in my template, but its always a good idea to include your name and a way to contact you, so if your notes get lost they can be returned to you.

Notice that I left this blank. I don't fill it in until I am finished with the chapter.

If lost please return to:
