

A promotional image for the TV show 'Once Upon a Time: Despertar'. It features two women standing in a dark, blue-toned forest. The woman on the left has long dark hair and is wearing a white, polka-dot, high-collared dress with a wide belt. The woman on the right has long blonde hair and is wearing a dark red leather jacket over dark pants. They are both looking back over their shoulders towards the camera. The background consists of dark, silhouetted trees against a blue, misty light.

Performative Bodies, Hybrid Tongues Julian Vigo, 2010 This book reconsiders the body in literature and makes a case for visual representation as a physical and gesticulative domain for rethinking the constructions of gender nationalism and sexuality Examining literary production from the eleventh century until the present the author argues that the body in contemporary North Africa and Latin America serves as a physical and symbolic terrain upon which sexual textual national racial and linguistic identities are vectored and through which postcolonial and hegemonic antagonisms of power and identity are resolved Rather than embracing third world identity as a residual repository of western thought colonization and linguistic infusion the author suggests that the paradigm of cultural identity in the Maghreb and Latin America is best understood through an examination of the emergent corporeal articulations of subjectivity prevalent in these literatures and visual cultures The text examines the body as a critical landscape through which the various discourses of nationhood gender and sexuality converge in order to construct a reading of the social that neither amasses subjectivity as singular under the rubric of the third world nor couches the other within static notions of gendered sexual or racial identities

Narrativa y poesía hispanoamericana, 1964-1994 Paco Tovar,1996 (Re)mapping the Latina/o Literary Landscape Cristina Herrera,Larissa M. Mercado-López,2016-08-10 This book broadens the scope of Latina o criticism to include both widely read and understudied nineteenth through twenty first century fictional works that engage in critical discussions of gender race sexuality and identity The essays in this collection do not simply seek inclusion for the texts they critically discuss but suggest that we more thoughtfully consider the utility of mapping whether we are mapping land borders time migration or connections and disconnections across time and space Using new and rigorous methodological approaches to reading Latina o literature contributors reveal a varied and textured landscape challenging us to reconsider the process and influence of literary production across borders Romance and Exemplarity in Post-war Spanish Women's Narratives Nino Keadze,2009 A reading of women s post war literary representations in terms of exemplarity The effects of General Francisco Franco s authoritarian rule 1939 1975 on the production and reception of cultural texts can be gauged by the silence that now surrounds them This is especially true of works which enjoyed considerable popularity when first published Most of the novels in question belong to the sentimental genre known as novela rosa whose authors mostly women and heroines Academe has consistently treated as literary pariahs This volume represents the first serious effort to question the categories used to assess the value and meaning of texts previously presumed to be devoid of both It does so by bringing to the fore the operative premise of Francoist cultural politics wherein fictional works have the power to mould individual character and conduct Narratives by Luisa Mar a Linares Concha Linares Becerra Carmen de Icaza and Mar a Mercedes Ortoll are thus examined in terms of the effects that they were expected to have on their readers and the constraints that such expectations placed on the works production and reception The result is a paradox while the study of women s bestselling novels is by definition a study of the constraints that shape them careful reading reveals the limitations of those selfsame constraints NINO KEBADZE is an Assistant Professor in the Hispanic Studies Department of the University of Massachusetts Boston Freedom ,1899 Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress.
