Library + Information Update, 2007 Franchise Times, 2009 The New York Times Index, 2008 Online safety Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Culture, Media and Sport Committee, 2014-03-19 The Culture Media and

Sport Committee's inquiry has focused on three disparate aspects of online content and behaviour all of which are of widespread concern: illegal content especially images of child abuse; harmful adult content being made freely available to children; bullying and harassment on social media. The Committee praises the work of the Child Exploitation and Online Protection (CEOP) Command, now part of the new National Crime Agency, and the Internet Watch Foundation but calls for more resources to be devoted to their valuable work. All three elements of CEOP's mission: education, social care and criminal justice, need to be actively pursued and publicised. Tracing paedophiles who share images on peer-to-peer networks and the so-called hidden internet continues to challenge both the police and the internet service providers. Legal adult pornography is widely consumed but children should be protected from viewing that material. Legal adult sites could restrict access by children in a number of ways. Age verification is important and whilst filters may not be failsafe they continue to improve and are an important way of protecting children from harmful content. Ofcom has an important role in monitoring internet content and advising the public on online safety and more needs to be done to signpost the advice and educational resources available to both parents and teachers. Today one in five 12-16 year olds think being bullied online is part of life. Social media providers should offer a range of prominently displayed options for and routes to reporting harmful content and communications.
