Science Experiments Review Returns:

Ethics and Experiments Scott Desposato, 2015-12-22 For most of political science's history discussions about professional ethics had nothing to do with human subjects. Professional ethics involved integrity in the classroom, fair tenure and promotion rule and the careful avoidance of plagiarism. As most research was observational there was little need for attention to how scholarly activities might directly affect the subjects of our work. Times have changed. The dramatic growth in the use of experiments in social science especially overseas is generating unexpected ethical controversies. The purpose of this volume is to identify, debate and propose practical solutions to the most critical of these new ethical issues. A leading team of internationally distinguished political science scholars presents the first examination of the practical and ethical challenges of research with human subjects in social science and policy studies. Part 1 examines contextual challenges provided by experiments conducted overseas: questions of culture, religion, security and poverty. Part 2 examines questions of legal constraints on research focusing on questions of foreign review of international experiments. Part 3 tackles the critical issues in field experiments including deception and consent, impact on elections and careers, the boundaries of the public officials' exemption and the use of partner organizations to avoid Institutional Review Body (IRB) review. Part 4 considers strategies for the future including training and education, IRB reform, institutional changes and norm development.

WEEB Grant End of Year Summary Reports and Site Reviews, 2001 Principal-Investigator-Led Missions in the Space Sciences National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Space Studies Board, Committee on Principal-Investigator-Led Missions in the Space Sciences, 2006-04-22 Principal Investigator-Led PI-led missions are an important element of NASA's space science enterprise. While several NRC studies have considered aspects of PI-led missions in the course of other studies for NASA, issues facing the PI-led missions in general have not been subject to much analysis in those studies. Nevertheless, these issues are raising increasingly important questions for NASA and it requested the NRC to explore them as they currently affect PI-led missions. Among the issues NASA asked to have examined were those concerning cost and scheduling, the selection process, relationships among PI-led team members and opportunities for knowledge transfer to new PIs. This report provides a discussion of the evolution and current status of the PI-led mission concept, the ways in which certain practices have affected its performance and the steps that can carry it successfully into the future. The study was done in collaboration with the National Academy of Public Administration.
