House of Commons - Culture, Media and Sport Committee: Supporting The Creative Economy - Volume I: HC 674 Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Culture, Media and Sport Committee, 2013-09-26 This report warns that the extraordinary success of the UK's creative industries may be jeopardised by any dilution of intellectual property rights and the failure to tackle online piracy. The Committee also strongly condemns the failure of Google in particular to tackle access of copyright infringing websites through its search engine. Such illegal piracy combined with proposals arising from the Hargreaves review to introduce copyright exceptions and a failure to strengthen copyright enforcement as envisaged by the Digital Economy Act 2010 together threaten the livelihoods of the individuals and industries that contribute over 36 billion annually to the UK economy. Also the Olympics No Marketing Rights scheme is excessively restrictive and is preventing British creative companies from realising the benefits they deserve from the Olympic legacy. The Committee calls for a central champion of Intellectual Property in Government to promote and protect the interests of UK intellectual property, the maximum penalty for serious online IP theft to be increased to 10 years imprisonment in line with the punishment for such offences in the physical world, more evidence and scrutiny before any exceptions to copyright such as those suggested by Hargreaves are applied, redoubled efforts to ensure that the video games tax credit is approved by the European Commission and introduced as soon as possible, reforms to the income tax and tax reliefs systems to recognise adequately the freelance nature of much creative work, greater recognition of the importance of arts subjects in the curriculum.

Business Week, 2009    The Hollywood Reporter, 2009    Divine Programming Charlotte E. Howell, 2020 From the mid 90s to the present television drama with religious content has come to reflect the growing cultural divide between white middle America and concentrated urban elites. As author Charlotte E Howell argues in this book by 2016 television narratives of white Christianity had become entirely disconnected from the religion they were meant to represent. Programming labeled family friendly became a euphemism for white middlebrow America and developing audience niches became increasingly significant to serial dramatic television. Utilizing original case studies and interviews Divine Programming investigates the development, writing, producing, marketing and positioning of key series including 7th Heaven, Friday Night Lights, Rectify, Supernatural, Jane the Virgin, Daredevil and Preacher. As this book shows there has historically been a deep ambivalence among television production cultures regarding religion and Christianity more specifically. It illustrates how middle American television audiences lost significance within the Hollywood television industry and how this in turn has informed and continues to inform television programming on a larger scale. In recent years upscale audience niches have aligned with the perceived tastes of affluent, educated, multicultural and importantly secular elites. As a result the televised representation of white Christianity had to be othered and shifted into the unreality of fantastic genres to appeal to niche audiences. To examine this effect Howell looks at religious representation through four approaches:

establishment distancing displacement and use and looks at series across a variety of genres and outlets in order to provided varied analyses of each theme    Billboard Music Week ,1928    Mediaweek ,2010-04    Brandweek ,2008    Adweek ,2009    Canal Record ,1912    Indiana Beverage Journal ,2009    National 4-H News ,1963    National 4-H Club News ,1963    Asian Sources Gifts & Home Products ,1994    The Delineator R. S. O'Loughlin,H. F. Montgomery,Charles Dwyer,1922    The Continuing Study of Newspaper Reading Advertising Research Foundation,1940

Keeping Score Tom Hoover,2010 Annotation Keeping Score features a compilation of interviews with the top composers of Hollywood The insightful conversations are both entertaining and informative taking the reader behind the scenes of the film scoring industry like never before This book offers readers a backstage pass to the inner workings of the industry where so often the film score plays one of the most important parts toward the success of movie Many award winning composers like Hans Zimmer and Howard Shore are interviewed along with some of the next generation of composers    The Billboard ,1935    Underwriters' Report ,1946    Pacific Drug Review ,1958    Beverage Media ,2009-08
