worldwide All five continents are represented in this book by global leaders in this relatively new subspecialty The chapters in the book re emphasize the fact that in the 21st century most patients in the world still lack this elementary tool to alleviate suffering physical and even more so emotional and spiritual which are so critical to people especially when patients conditions become fatal An issue that comes up again and again from almost all parts of the world regardless of religion and traditional backgrounds ethnicities beliefs or faith refers to the critical lack of basic and advanced training for physicians nurses volunteers and the public at large Healthcare professionals are currently not equipped with the principles of communication with both the patient and his her relatives These kinds of drawbacks have to be corrected immediately Moreover training courses symposia and conferences do not require large amounts of funds and can be carried out in local countries and or regions which share a common language culture and faith Each country needs to create a nucleus of local champions who would then take it upon themselves to educate as many people in their own countries with the support guidance and encouragement of international organizations that are dedicated to this mission Almost all of the larger international institutions e g the UN and WHO preach for improvement of the current situation Unfortunately responses are extremely slow and not efficient This book calls for the global health community to urgently respond and bring about a rapid change in a totally unjustified situation that still prevails in over three quarters of the world

Pediatric Palliative Care: Global Perspectives

Caprice Knapp, Vanessa Madden, Susan Fowler-Kerry, 2012-01-03 The first of its kind, this book describes pediatric palliative care in more than 23 countries. Each region in the world is covered and countries included are both resource poor and rich. Authors are multidisciplinary and regarded nationally and internationally in their field. Clinicians, advocates, policymakers, funders and researchers will learn how programs were developed and implemented in each country. Authors describe children for whom pediatric palliative care is needed and provided for in their country. When applicable, a brief history of pediatric palliative care is included, noting especially policy changes and legislative acts. For example, the chapter on Poland describes how pediatric palliative care grew from the Catholic church into a national movement spearheaded by several health care workers. The Polish national spirit that brought them through a change in political regime has also been a driving force in the pediatric palliative care movement. The chapter on South Africa, for example, illustrates how a resource-poor country has been able to leverage philanthropic and government funding to make its dream of having an infrastructure of pediatric palliative care a reality. These are just a few examples of the inspiring stories that are included in this book. Readers from countries who wish to start a pediatric palliative care program or advance an existing program will learn valuable lessons from others who have faced similar barriers. Introduction and concluding chapters highlight the strengths and weaknesses of the modern pediatric palliative care movement.
