

UK's First Space Launch Site

What is a satellite?

A satellite is either something natural, like a moon or a planet, or a man-made object that orbits a planet in a star. For example, the Moon is a satellite of the Earth.

Man-made satellites orbit the Earth doing all sorts of jobs. They could be taking pictures of the Earth or even other planets.

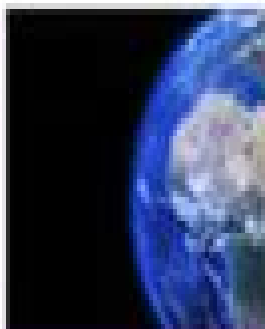

Image: The Earth from space

The UK is now also close to launching its first orbital site space.

Scientists launched a satellite last year from a rocket in space. It was successful, but it was not the first in the UK's first space launch site.

The first mission was to launch and to make it by the company Virgin Orbit. They have called their mission 'Orbit' as it is intended to carry by the first of the Virgin Orbit.

Some scientists think that launching it from the ground. There are however no orbital launchers. However, the satellite from Virgin Orbit will be launched from space already in the air. This is known as a horizontal launch.

The mission will involve a flight for 100 minutes. The plane will carry a rocket called LauncherOne.

After another mission after that in 2022, the plane will fly to a height of 100,000 feet. It will then release the rocket, and the rocket will launch, just north of Ireland.

The rocket will then split, and launch a rocket of 100,000 feet and travel out of the atmosphere. It will travel a distance of 100,000 feet.

It will also show the Earth's surface.

Once in the height, the rocket will be in orbit around the Earth. It will release the satellite so that they will be in orbit around the Earth too.

Finally, the rocket will return to the Earth's atmosphere at which stage it will burn up and disintegrate.

Summary

satellite: An object in space or orbit that orbits.

orbit: To travel around something.

disintegrate: To break apart or break into pieces.

After the mission, the rocket will be launched.

What Is Thanksgiving?

In the US, and in many other places around the world, Thanksgiving is being celebrated today.

The annual holiday is about giving thanks and spending time with family and friends. It's also a celebration of feeding so many people together to enjoy huge meals.

It began as a celebration giving thanks for a successful harvest. Pilgrims from Europe had sailed to America in 1620 on a ship called the Mayflower. However, their first harvest failed.

With the help of the local native people, the Pilgrims survived the following year's harvest and a winter. They had a big celebration and this is now thought of as the 'First Thanksgiving'.

There are many traditions surrounding Thanksgiving. But today, today is primarily the biggest. In the US, more than 100 million people are eating on Thanksgiving Day each year.

Other traditional foods enjoyed on the day include cranberries, potatoes and vegetables.

Image: Thanksgiving meal

As well as a big meal, families and friends (and pets) gather for the famous 'Turkey' parade.

Many states across the US host a Thanksgiving parade. The biggest is the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York. Around three million people turn out to watch it in the city and around 10 million more watch it on TV.

US teams the Indian Thanksgiving and the Pilgrims from both play games each Thanksgiving. These are watched by tens of millions of people. Families also go out and watch high school and college games as part of their Thanksgiving Day traditions.

Fun Fact: 17

Although the 'First Thanksgiving' in 1621, it wasn't until 1941 that Thanksgiving became a national holiday.

Thanksgiving is also a time to give thanks for what you have. Many people write letters to the US President to say thank you for what they have done for the country.
