Does Robert Peels statement "The police are the public and the public are the police" still apply to the current situation in Germany?, 2025-09-09 Seminar paper from the year 2022 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Culture and Applied Geography grade 2.0 Christian Albrechts University of Kiel Englishes Seminar course Seminar language English abstract This paper examines the public image of the police and two exemplary cases of police violence that raise the question of the extent to which such incidents undermine public trust in the police and the judiciary The police are an institution that plays a central role in society as they are responsible for maintaining public safety and condemning injustice This also includes crime investigation and prevention for which police officers may also use force This results in a high responsibility for the police towards the population which is however strongly dependent on the opinion of the citizens The reason for this is that the police receive their legitimacy in particular through the consent of the population just as is the case for institutions in democratic societies Since it is not enough in democracies for the police to do their job effectively the consent of the population is a decisive factor for the legitimacy of the police It is important that the majority of the population believes that the police do their job in an acceptable manner Thus the opinion and trust of the population in the police are the central basis for a functioning relationship between society and the police on an equal footing

Honour Based Crimes and the Law Mukaddes Gorar, 2021-05-10 Honour based violence and abuse manifests itself in different forms and this book offers a comprehensive understanding of this phenomenon This book argues that the limits of honour crimes must be defined more widely so that they include conducts and behaviours that originate from the patriarchal notion of honour such as honour based oppression and breast ironing The book provides a critical analysis and synthesis of the law in England and Wales and in the international human rights sphere The relevant domestic legislation and cases are examined to reflect on whether adequate protection is provided for the victims and potential victims of honour based violence and abuse Since honour based violence is a violation of human rights the relevant international human rights law is examined to illustrate the perception of such crimes in the international arena The effectiveness of any remedy for victims of honour based violence and abuse depends on its capability to change deep rooted behaviours in communities with honour based patriarchal values This book argues that the law does not provide the effective impact required in part due to patriarchal structures and that more efforts should be dedicated to changes in education It is held that there is a need for an educational programme that is especially designed to tackle violence and promote gender equality The book will be essential reading for academics researchers and policy makers working in the areas of Human Rights Law Criminal Law and Gender Studies
