Open Fields Science In Cultural Encounter:

Open Fields Gillian Beer, 1996-03-28 Science always raises more questions than it can contain. These acclaimed and challenging essays explore how ideas are transformed as they come under the stress of unforeseen readers. Using a wealth of material from diverse nineteenth and twentieth century writing, Gillian Beer tracks encounters between science, literature and other forms of emotional experience. Her analysis discloses issues of chance, gender, nation and desire. A substantial group of essays centres on Darwin and the incentives of his thinking from language theory to his encounters with Freudians. Other essays include Hardy, Helmholtz, Hopkins, Clerk Maxwell and Woolf. The collection throws a different light on Victorian experience and the rise of modernism and engages with current controversies about the place of science in culture. A Companion to Nineteenth-Century Britain Chris Williams, 2008-04-15 A Companion to Nineteenth-Century Britain presents 33 essays by expert scholars on all the major aspects of the political, social, economic and cultural history of Britain during the late Georgian and Victorian eras. Truly British rather than English in scope. Pays attention to the experiences of women as well as of men. Illustrated with maps and charts. Includes guides to further reading. Literature, Science,

Psychoanalysis, 1830-1970 Helen Small, Trudi Tate, 2003 The interactions between literature and science and between literature and psychoanalysis have been among the most thriving areas for interdisciplinary study in recent years. Work in these open fields has taught us to recognize the interdependence of different cultures of knowledge and experience, revealing the multiple ways in which science, literature and psychoanalysis have been mutually enabling and defining as well as corrective and contestatory of each other. Inspired by Gillian Beer's path-breaking work on literature and science, this volume presents fourteen new essays by leading American and British writers. They focus on the evolutionary sciences in the nineteenth century, the early years of psychoanalysis from Freud to Ella Freeman Sharpe and the modern development of the physical sciences. Drawing on recent debates within the history of science, psychoanalytic literary criticism, intellectual history and gender studies, the volume makes a major contribution to our understanding of the formation of knowledge. Among its recurrent themes are curiosity and epistemology, growth, maturity and coming of age as structuring metaphors; several essays focus especially on childhood, taxonomy, sleep and dreaming and elusive knowledge, the physiology of truth and the gender politics of scientific theory and practice. The essays also reflect Beer's extensive influence as a literary critic with close readings of works by Charlotte Brontë, Alfred, Lord Tennyson, George Eliot, Thomas Hardy, Henry James, Oscar Wilde, H. G. Wells, Edith Ayrton, Zangwill, Charlotte Haldane, Virginia Woolf, George Orwell and Karin Boye. Cultural Encounters with the Arabian Nights in Nineteenth-Century Britain Dickson, Melissa Dickson, 2019-07-02 Dickson identifies the nineteenth century as the beginning of the large scale absorption of the Arabian Nights into British literature and culture.

Cross-cultural Encounters Marc Silver, Giovanna Buonanno, 2005 Uncommon Contexts: Encounters between Science and Literature, 1800-1914 Ben Marsden, Hazel Hutchinson, Ralph O'Connor, 2016-09-12 Britain in the long nineteenth century developed an increasing interest in science of all kinds Whilst poets and novelists took inspiration from technical and scientific innovations those directly engaged in these new disciplines relied on literary techniques to communicate their discoveries to a wider audience The essays in this collection uncover this symbiotic relationship between literature and science at the same time bridging the disciplinary gulf between the history of science and literary studies Specific case studies include the engineering language used by Isambard Kingdom Brunel the role of physiology in the development of the sensation novel and how mass communication made people lonely

The Physiology of the Novel Nicholas Dames, 2007-09-27

How did the Victorians read novels Nicholas Dames answers that deceptively simple question by revealing a now forgotten range of nineteenth century theories of the novel a range based in a study of human physiology during the act of reading He demonstrates the ways in which the Victorians thought they read and uncovers surprising responses to the question of what might have transpired in the minds and bodies of readers of Victorian fiction His detailed studies of novelcritics who were also interested in neurological science combined with readings of novels by Thackeray Eliot Meredith and Gissing propose a vision of the Victorian novel reader as far from the quietly immersed being we now imagine as instead a reader whose nervous system was addressed attacked andsoothed by authors newly aware of the neural operations of their public Rich in unexpected intersections from the British response to Wagnerian opera to the birth of speed reading in the late nineteenth century The Physiology of the Novel challenges our assumptions about what novel reading once did and still does to the individual reader and provides new answers to the question of how novels influenced a culture s way of reading responding and feeling
