Passages Relinquished Work Nathaniel Hawthorne:

Passages from a Relinquished Work (From "Mosses from an Old Manse") Nathaniel Hawthorne, 2022-09-16 In Passages from a Relinquished Work Nathaniel Hawthorne offers a poignant glimpse into his creative process and philosophical contemplations. This fragmentary piece extracted from the broader collection Mosses from an Old Manse showcases Hawthorne's characteristic prose style blending Romantic sensibilities with deeply introspective and allegorical elements. The work grapples with themes of alienation, the nature of artistry, and the inherent complexity of human existence, reflecting Hawthorne's engagement with both the personal and the universal. The fragment's unfinished quality invites readers into the mind of the author, allowing them to explore the juxtaposition of aspiration and limitation in his literary journey. Nathaniel Hawthorne, an emblematic figure of American literature, navigated the tensions of his Puritan heritage while drawing inspiration from the rich traditions of the Transcendentalist movement. His life experiences, including his tumultuous relationship with themes of guilt and moral ambiguity, profoundly influenced his writing. The unfinished nature of this work parallels Hawthorne's own struggles with expressing his artistic vision amid societal and personal constraints. Readers keen on understanding the nuances of Hawthorne's literary artistry and philosophical inquiries will find Passages from a Relinquished Work particularly illuminating. This text not only enhances the appreciation of his oeuvre but also serves as a meditation on the creative process itself, making it a compelling read for anyone interested in the undercurrents of 19th-century American literature.

The result it must be owned has been very different in their cases and mine, they being all respectable men and well settled in life, the eldest as the successor to his father's pulpit, the second as a physician and the third as a partner in a wholesale shoe store, while I with better prospects than either of them have run the course which this volume will describe. Yet there is room for doubt whether I should have been any better contented with such success as theirs than with my own misfortunes at least till after my experience of the latter had made it too late for another trial. Hawthorne's Works Nathaniel Hawthorne, 1882. The Works of Nathaniel Hawthorne: Doctor Grimshawe's

In a letter which Hawthorne addressed to Longfellow at the time of publishing the Twice Told Tales he said speaking of his life up to that time and his future prospects I have now or shall soon have a sharper spur to exertion which I lacked at an earlier period for I see little prospect but that I shall have to scribble for a living But this troubles me much less than you would suppose I can turn my pen to all sorts of drudgery such as children s books etc Precisely what the sharper spur was can be conjectured only but it is not unlikely that thoughts of marriage had already entered his mind for certainly within the term of two years following he had made that matrimonial engagement which was destined to be carried out in a life long union of great happiness He had already in writing Peter Parley s History for Goodrich demonstrated his fitness for supplying youthful minds with simple and entertaining literature It should seem that having learned something from his experience with Goodrich corroborative of Virgil s Sic vos non vobis he determined to exercise for his own benefit the faculty of writing for children which he had thus developed and had shown himself conscious of in the Longfellow letter just quoted

Accordingly between the time of issuing his collected stories and the date of his Brook Farm episode he produced a number of brief narratives the subjects of which were drawn from those old New England annals which some of his tales and other detached papers to say nothing of the local coloring in The Scarlet Letter show him to have conned over so thoroughly These little stories connected by dialogue and by a pleasant fiction concerning an old chair supposed to have figured in the vari
