Pattern Recognition Bruce Batchelor, 1982 Pattern Recognition Bruce G. Batchelor, 2012-12-06 Pattern recognition is a child of modern technology electronics and computers in particular have inspired research and made it possible to develop the subject in a way which would have been impossible otherwise It is a rapidly growing research field which began to flourish in the 1960s and which is beginning to produce commercial devices Significant developments have been made both in the theory and practical engineering of the subject but there is evidence of a schism developing between these two approaches Practical machines have usually been designed on an ad hoc basis with little use being made of advanced theory It is difficult to provide a rigorous mathematical treatment of many problems pertinent to a practical situation This is due in part at least to a conceptual rift between theory and practice The mathematics of optimal systems is well developed whereas pragmatists are more concerned with vaguer ideas of reasonable and sufficient In some situations the quest for optimality can constrain research and retard practical progress This can occur for example if too narrow a view is taken of optimal the accuracy of a system may be optimal whereas its speed cost or physical size may be grossly suboptimal The objective of this book is to present a glimpse of the pragmatic approach to pattern recognition there already exist a number of excellent texts describing theoretical developments

Parallel Processes and Related Automata / Parallele Prozesse und damit zusammenhängende Automaten W. Knödel, Hans Juergen Schneider, 2012-12-06 The third supplement volume of Computing deals with parallel processes and thus with a highly topical area of informatics As both the first supplement volumes were concerned with numerical questions the entire subject the cultivation of which Computing purports is now broadly outlined in the supplement volumes too The reason for the simultaneous production of so many papers on the same subject was the 60th birthday of Prof Dr Wolfgang

Handler an eminent specialist in the field of parallel processing It was the wish of his friends colleagues and collaborators that Herr Handler be honoured by the gift of a volume which would have as its centre of interest the area of research that he represents In this volume parallelism is focused upon from various angles and an attempt has been made through new results to bring it a little further It is obvious from a glance at the bibliographies of the papers contributed in which many of Herr Handler s publications are referenced that he was never far from the writer s minds Patterns of Rogerian Knowing Mary Madrid,1997 The scholarship from the most recent Rogers Conferences at New York University has furthered the evolution of the Science of Unitary Human Beings This new index on Rogerian thought addresses Martha Rogers legacy presents creative research methods and offers medical practitioners views on Rogerian science Rogerian science based nursing research and innovative applications are also presented c 1997 304 pages Pattern Recognition Josef Kittler,1988
