Paul V Anderson Technical Communication Edition 8:

Solving Problems in Technical Communication Johndan Johnson-Eilola, Stuart A. Selber, 2024-05-31 The field of technical communication is rapidly expanding in both the academic world and the private sector yet a problematic divide remains between theory and practice. Here Stuart A. Selber and Johndan Johnson Eilola both respected scholars and teachers of technical communication effectively bridge that gap. Solving Problems in Technical Communication collects the latest research and theory in the field and applies it to real world problems faced by practitioners. Problems involving ethics, intercultural communication, new media, and other areas that determine the boundaries of the discipline. The book is structured in four parts offering an overview of the field situating it historically and culturally, reviewing various theoretical approaches to technical communication, and examining how the field can be advanced by drawing on diverse perspectives. Timely informed and practical, Solving Problems in Technical Communication will be an essential tool for undergraduates and graduate students as they begin the transition from classroom to career. Journal of Technical Writing and Communication, 1980

Ethics in Technical Communication Lori Allen, Dan Voss, 1997-02-07 With the advancement of technical communications in recent years many ethical issues have emerged. This book focuses on college programs in technical communications. Based on nine real world case studies it covers legal issues like copyrights, patents, licensing, intellectual property, confidentiality, international issues, and more. Resources in Education, 1994 Strategies for Business and Technical Writing Kevin J. Harty, 1985 Journal of Business and Technical Communication, 2000 IEEE Engineering Communication, 1987 Teaching Business Writing Jeanne W. Halpern, 1983 Research in Technical Communication Michael G. Moran, Debra Journet, 1985 This sourcebook demonstrates the vigorous work being done in the field of technical and scientific communication. Collectively the essays offer researchers a basis from which to begin constructing the theoretical framework necessary for the study of technical communication. The book begins with general concerns and progresses to particular applications. The chapters comprising Part I outline larger theoretical perspectives from which to examine technical communication humanistic approaches to technical communication, the history of technical communication, communication theory and technical writing, and the teaching of technical writing. Part II examines the relationship of technical communication to traditional rhetorical concerns such as invention, audience, modes of organization, and style. Specific types of technical communication proposals, reports, and business correspondence among others are discussed in Part III. The use of the computer, oral presentations, and specialized forms of technical communication are examined in Part IV. The appendixes offer guides to textbooks and style manuals and an overview of the technical writing profession. Journal of Advanced Composition, 1988 Singular Texts/plural Authors Lisa S. Ede, Andrea A. Lunsford, 1992 Why write together? The authors ask. They answer that question here in the first book to combine theoretical and historical explorations with actual research on collaborative and group writing. Lisa Ede and Andrea Lunsford challenge the assumption that writing is a solitary act That challenge is grounded in their own personal experience as long term collaborators and in their extensive research including a three stage study of collaborative writing supported by the Fund for the Improvement of Post Secondary Education The authors urge a fundamental change in our institutions to accommodate collaboration by radically resituating power in the classroom and by instituting rewards for collaborative work that equal rewards for single authored work They conclude with the injunction Today and in the twenty first century our data suggest writers must be able to work together They must in short be able to collaborate     Iowa State Journal of Business and Technical Communication ,1987
