Technology Brands in the Digital Economy Wioleta Kucharska,Ewa Lechman,2023-03-10 This edited volume provides deep insight into theoretical and empirical evidence on how digital technologies and high tech brands are interrelated It traces the mutual links between these two phenomena identifies the multidimensionality of interdependencies and shows the reader how and why new technologies are the driving factors of creation and global dissemination of high tech brands In this context it also refers to various types of economic and social networks that on the one hand are the products of digital technologies while on the other enforce global visibility of high tech brands. The book contributes to the present state of knowledge offering the reader broad evidence on how digital technologies impact the process of high tech brands' nascent and how their growing role and global exposure influence networked economies and societies. It sets out to deliver a bridge between brand management and economical approaches to understanding how digital technologies and high tech brands are interrelated. This multidisciplinary approach creates a complex compilation of different views and perspectives that sheds new light on the high tech brands' phenomena of being an input and output of technology-driven economies. Technology Brands in the Digital Economy is written for scholars and researchers from a wide variety of disciplines but especially for those addressing issues of brands and economic development and growth, social development and the role of technological progress in broadly defined socio-economic progress. It will also be an invaluable source of knowledge for graduate and postgraduate students in a variety of areas such as economic and social development, information and technology, worldwide studies, social policy and comparative economics.

Broadcasting & Cable, 2006-04 Strategic Airline Retailing and Solutions Nawal K. Taneja, 2023-11-07

While airlines have been looking into the next generation of retailing practices for several years, developments since the beginning of 2020 have accelerated the need to take retailing to a new paradigm. A singular focus now is the ever-changing demands of the current and next generation of customers and employees and managing their values. Examples of customer needs include a mobile-first approach, rich content, augmented and personalized end-to-end services with seamless, consistent and contextualized experiences. While these concepts of retailing are not new, the challenge has been in bringing them to reality due to the constraints of legacy systems and processes while transitioning to next-generation retailing systems. b. the inaccessibility of real-time data coming from a wide variety of sources such as online shopping, social media, and operations. c. the inability to monitor real-time behavior of customers and employees. d. the lack of effective collaboration and cooperation within the travel ecosystem. e. the increasing lack of trust on the part of customers. This book provides a framework and technologies to convert retailing concepts from shopping to fulfillment into reality by a. renovating an airline's core and ancillary products. b. progressing faster on digital and organizational transformation journeys to make better data-based decisions about retailing. c. getting better at managing customer value by knowing who the customers are. d. empowering supporting and listening to employees to meet their expectations. e. asking the right questions to solve complex retailing problems relating to customers, competitors, and stakeholders. f. questioning common held beliefs about the airline business. This book is indispensable for all airline executives and senior managers as well as airline and airport commercial managers. It will also be enormously beneficial for retailers dealing with airlines and airports.
