Letters To Poseidon Cees Nooteboom, 2014-11-06 I had been looking for someone to write to for a long time but how does a man write letters to a god From his Mediterranean garden on the island of Menorca Cees Nooteboom writes to the trident wielding deity Poseidon initiating a dialogue not only with the past as Alberto Manguel observes in his Preface but with an entire world that seemed lost for ever Offering a seductive interweaving of keen observation and the fruits of a vast knowledge Nooteboom explores questions of human existence through the minutiae of the living world around him and marvels at the secrets of the deep He recalls figures in history places he has travelled to objets trouvés works of art and literature and takes a fresh look at the ancient myths At once playful and poignant beautiful and bizarre Nooteboom's Letters to Poseidon are couched in the glittering prose of one of Europe's outstanding stylists

533 Cees Nooteboom, 2021-11-04 A lyrical book of days A bejewelled mosaic Financial Times Humane insightful and deeply cultured Times Literary Supplement Though a tireless explorer of distant cultures for more than forty years Cees Nooteboom has also been returning to Menorca the island of the wind and it is in his house there with a study full of books and a garden taken over by cacti and many insects that the 533 days of writing take place The result is not a diary nor a set of movements of the soul organised by dates but a book of days with observations about what is immediately around him his love for Menorca his thoughts on the world on life and death on literature and oblivion Every impression opens windows onto vast horizons the Divine Comedy and the books it generated the contempt of Borges for Gombrowicz the death of David Bowie the endless flight of the Voyagers the repetition of history as a tragedy but never as farce 533 is a meditative rhapsody that would like to exclude the noise of current events yet must return to them several times and sceptically contemplates the threat of a disintegrating Europe Reading this book is like having an extraordinary conversation with an extraordinary mind The very first pages are so powerful that you suspect the author must have binned the preceding pages that were needed to climb to such heights De Volkskrant The 533 days captivate in their undisguised openness to the world Süddeutsche Zeitung Photographs by Simone Sassen Translated from the Dutch by Laura Watkinson

Venice Cees Nooteboom, 2020-09-03 You might think there is little new to say about Venice but Cees Nooteboom strolls down many under explored alleyways in the city his insights coloured by his knowledge of art and literature as well as his past experiences Witty and meditative by turns the overall effect is like being shown around by a wonderfully self effacing but impressively erudite guide The Sunday Times BOOKS OF THE YEAR Nooteboom has achieved the impossible to say something new about the ageless city about which everything has been said ALBERTO MANGUEL The whole book is the illuminating testimony of a man who cannot look away and so sees things that others even those with more specialist knowledge have missed whether it be the color and consistency of the ropes on the vaporetto the glistening hues and squirming movements of the fish at the market or the wondrous effects that Tintoretto could achieve with dabs of white
