Negotiating The Sacred Blasphemy And Sacrilege In A Multicultural Society:

Negotiating the Sacred Elizabeth Burns Coleman, Kevin White, 2006-06-01 This cross disciplinary exploration of the role of the sacred blasphemy and sacrilege in a multicultural society brings together philosophers theologians lawyers historians curators anthropologists and sociologists as well as Christian Jewish and Islamic and secular perspectives In bringing together different disciplinary and cultural approaches the book provides a way of broadening our conceptions of what might count as sacred sacrilegious and blasphemous in moral and political terms In addition it provides original research data on blasphemy sacrilege and religious tolerance from a range of disciplines Negotiating the Sacred II Elizabeth Burns

Coleman, Maria Suzette Fernandes-Dias, 2008-12-01 Blasphemy and other forms of blatant disrespect to religious beliefs have the capacity to create significant civil and even international unrest Consequently the sacrosanctity of religious dogmas and beliefs stringent laws of repression and codes of moral and ethical propriety have compelled artists to live and create with occupational hazards like uncertain audience response self censorship and accusations of deliberate misinterpretation of cultural production looming over their heads Yet in recent years issues surrounding the rights of minority cultures to recognition and respect have raised new questions about the contemporariness of the construct of blasphemy and sacrilege Controversies over the aesthetic representation of the sacred the exhibition of the sacred as art and the public display of sacrilegious or blasphemous works have given rise to heated debates and have invited us to reflect on binaries like artistic and religious sensibilities tolerance and philistinism the sacred and the profane deification and vilification Endeavouring to move beyond simplistic points about the rights to freedom of expression and sacrosanctity this collection explores how differences between conceptions of the sacred can be negotiated It recognises that blasphemy may be justified as a form of political criticism as well as a sincere expression of spirituality But it also recognises that within a pluralistic society blasphemy in the arts can do an enormous amount of harm as it may also impair relations within and between societies This collection evolved out a two day conference called Negotiating the Sacred Blasphemy and Sacrilege in the Arts held at the Centre for Cross Cultural Research at The Australian National University in November 2005 This is the second volume in a series of five conferences and edited collections on the theme Negotiating the Sacred The first conference Negotiating the Sacred Blasphemy and Sacrilege in a Multicultural Society was held at The Australian National University s Centre for Cross Cultural Research in 2004 and published as an edited collection by ANU E Press in 2006 Other conferences in the series have included Religion Medicine and the Body ANU 2006 Tolerance Education and the Curriculum ANU 2007 and Governing the Family Monash University 2008 Together the series represents a major contribution to ongoing debates on the political demands arising from religious pluralism in multicultural societies Religious Tolerance, Education and the

Curriculum Elizabeth Burns Coleman, Kevin White, 2011-10-30 The creation of a secular education system was one of the great social experiments designed to break down religious intolerance within society One element of this design was administrative involving the creation of non denominational schools and another element involved a centralised curriculum In this collection of essays political philosophers lawyers sociologists theologians and educators explore the role of state schools in promoting tolerance within 21st century multicultural religiously pluralistic societies How may different models of liberalism in the secular state have different outcomes in relation to religious tolerance in the education system Does a state education system have a role in teaching values such as tolerance and if so how is this best achieved How are epistemology and truth connected with tolerance How does the ideal of a value free secular education mask the values that the secular state teaches The essays are written from both theoretical and practical perspectives and engage with each other directly to address one of the significant issues of our day This is the fourth volume arising from a series of conferences on the theme of Negotiating the Sacred Previous volumes have included Blasphemy and Sacrilege in a Multicultural Society Blasphemy and Sacrilege in the Arts and Medicine Religion and the Body Medicine, Religion, and the Body Elizabeth Burns

Coleman, Kevin White, 2010 This book explores the ways in which the body is sacred in Western medicine as well as how this idea is played out in questions of life and death of the autopsy and of the meanings attributed to illnesses and disease Ritual and religious modifications to and limitations on what may be done to the body raise cross cultural issues of great complexity philosophically and theologically as well as sociologically within medicine and for health care practitioners but also as a matter of primary concern for the patient The book explores the ways in which medicine organises the moral and the immoral the sacred and the profane how it mediates cultural concepts of the sacred of the body of blood and of life and death

Kugelman, Bijan Omrani, 2021-07-31 Over the last few years questions of religious freedom and the rights of religious minorities in South Asia have rarely been out of the international headlines The position of Muslims in an increasingly nationalist India the impact of Islamic blasphemy laws in Pakistan the intensifying clash between India and Pakistan over Kashmir attacks on the Muslim Rohingyas of Myanmar tensions between Buddhists Muslims and Christians in Sri Lanka the struggle between Islam and secularism in Bangladesh in all of these fields as difficulties grow there is an ever increasing need to understand the history and genesis of the current problems This volume based on a conference held at the Woodrow Wilson Centre for Scholars in Washington DC in collaboration with the Royal Society for Asian Affairs in London brings together a number of chapters written by a host of leading international scholars and policy experts These chapters go back to the origins of national constitutions and fundamental laws tracing their impact to the present They explain how and why questions of state intention and ideology that were passed over during the crafting of these countries constitutions have returned to haunt South Asia with greater urgency and consequence This book was originally published as special issue of the journal Asian Affairs The University of New South Wales Law Journal, 2003 Migrations and Mediations Jose

Grenda, 2014-08-15 Humans have been uttering profane words and incurring the consequences for millennia But contemporary events from the violence in 2006 that followed Danish newspaper cartoons depicting the Prophet Mohammed to the 2012 furor over the Innocence of Muslims video indicate that controversy concerning blasphemy has reemerged in explosive transnational form

In an age when electronic media transmit offense as rapidly as profane images and texts can be produced blasphemy is bracingly relevant again In this volume a distinguished cast of international scholars examines the profound difficulties blasphemy raises for modern societies Contributors examine how the sacred is formed and maintained how sacrilegious expression is conceived and regulated and how the resulting conflicts resist easy adjudication Their studies range across art history politics law literature and theology Because of the global nature of the problem the volume s approach is comparative examining blasphemy across cultural and geopolitical boundaries

Demystifying the Sacred Eveline Bouwers, David Nash, 2022-09-20

Demystifying the Sacred Blasphemy and Violence from the French Revolution to Today offers a much needed analysis of a subject that historians have largely ignored yet that has considerable relevance for today s world the powerful connection that exists between offences against the sacred and different forms of violence Drawing on cases from revolutionary France to the Russia of Vladimir Putin the international authors probe the nature and agency of local blasphemy accusations the historical and legal framework in which they were expressed and the violence both physical and symbolic accompanying them In doing so the volume reveals how cultures of blasphemy and related acts of heresy apostasy and sacrilege were a companion to or acted as a trigger for physical action but also a form of how violence was experienced More generally it shows the importance of religious sensibilities in modern society and the violent potential contained in criticism or ridicule of the sacred and secular alike
