Networkologies A Philosophy Of Networks For A Hyperconnected Age A Manifesto:

Networkologies Christopher Vitale, 2014 Networks are the future here is the first philosophy based on networks a new image of thought for a hyperconnected age     Impact Networks David Ehrlichman, 2021-10-12 This practical guide shows how to facilitate collaboration among diverse individuals and organizations to navigate complexity and create change in our interconnected world The social and environmental challenges we face today are not only complex they are also systemic and structural and have no obvious solutions They require diverse combinations of people organizations and sectors to coordinate actions and work together even when the way forward is unclear Even so collaborative efforts often fail because they attempt to navigate complexity with traditional strategic plans created by hierarchies that ignore the way people naturally connect By embracing a living systems approach to organizing impact networks bring people together to build relationships across boundaries leverage the existing work skills and motivations of the group and make progress amid unpredictable and ever changing conditions As a powerful and flexible organizing system that can span regions organizations and silos of all kinds impact networks underlie some of the most impressive and large scale efforts to create change across the globe David Ehrlichman draws on his experience as a network builder interviews with dozens of network leaders and insights from the fields of network science community building and systems thinking to provide a clear process for creating and developing impact networks Given the increasing complexity of our society and the issues we face our ability to form grow and work through networks has never been more essential     Spider Web, Labyrinth, Tightrope Walk Regina Schober, 2023-08-07 Spider Web Labyrinth Tightrope Walk explores the shifting functions of the network as a metaphor model and as an epistemological framework in US American literature and culture from the 19th century until today The book critically inquires into the literary cultural philosophical and scientific rhetoric values and ideological underpinnings that have given rise to the network concept Literature and culture play a major role in the ways in which networks have been imagined and how they have evolved as conceptual models This study regards networks as historically emergent and culturally constructed formations closely tied with the development of knowledge technologies in the process of modernization as well as with an increasingly critical awareness of network technologies and infrastructures While the rise of the network in scientific philosophical political and sociological discourses has received wide attention this book contributes an important cultural and historical perspective to network theory by demonstrating how US American literature and culture have been key sites for thinking in and about networks in the past two centuries     Speculations Paul J. Ennis, 2020 From the Editorial Introduction Since I am convinced that nobody reads editorials I will keep my remarks brief Putting together the inaugural issue of Speculations has been an unusual experience It has depended on the collusion of fellow speculative types the help of many anonymous reviewers the endless patience of designer Thomas Gokey and more hours than someone in the final year of their PhD should ever spend on a project Looking over the final product I think it has all been worth it This is the first journal dedicated to speculative realism and despite the obscurity of that term I think we all understand it as a handy label under which weird realists continental metaphysicians object oriented ontologists transcendental realists vitalists and Lovecraftians can unite This is also perhaps the first time a journal can boast that each contributor is also a blogger This is the reason why Speculations could only ever be an online open access journal

Hildegard von Bingen's Ordo Virtutum Michael Gardiner, 2018-10-03 The Ordo Virtutum Hildegard von Bingen's twelfth century music drama is one of the first known examples of a large scale composition by a named composer in the Western canon Not only does the Ordo's expansive duration set it apart from its precursors but also its complex imagery and non biblical narrative have raised various questions concerning its context and genre As a poetic meditation on the fall of a soul the Ordo deploys an array of personified virtues and musical forces over the course of its eighty seven chants In this ambitious analysis of the work Michael C Gardiner examines how classical Neoplatonic hierarchies are established in the music drama and considers how they are mediated and subverted through a series of concentric absorptions absorptions related to medieval Platonism and its various theological developments which lie at the core of the work's musical design and text This is achieved primarily through Gardiner's musical network model which implicates mode into a networked system of nodes and draws upon parallels with the medieval interpretation of Platonic ontology and Hildegard's correlative realization through sound song and voice

The Onlife Manifesto Luciano Floridi, 2014-11-16 What is the impact of information and communication technologies ICTs on the human condition In order to address this question in 2012 the European Commission organized a research project entitled The Onlife Initiative concept reengineering for rethinking societal concerns in the digital transition This volume collects the work of the Onlife Initiative It explores how the development and widespread use of ICTs have a radical impact on the human condition ICTs are not mere tools but rather social forces that are increasingly affecting our self conception who we are our mutual interactions how we socialise our conception of reality our metaphysics and our interactions with reality our agency In each case ICTs have a huge ethical legal and political significance yet one with which we have begun to come to terms only recently The impact exercised by ICTs is due to at least four major transformations the blurring of the distinction between reality and virtuality the blurring of the distinction between human machine and nature the reversal from information scarcity to information abundance and the shift from the primacy of stand alone things properties and binary relations to the primacy of interactions processes and networks Such transformations are testing the foundations of our conceptual frameworks Our current conceptual toolbox is no longer fitted to address new ICT related challenges This is not only a problem in itself It is also a risk because the lack of a clear understanding of our present time may easily lead to negative projections about the future The goal of The Manifesto and of the whole book that contextualises is therefore that of contributing to the update of our philosophy It is a constructive goal The book is meant to be a positive contribution to rethinking the philosophy on which policies are built in a hyperconnected world so that we may have a better chance of understanding our ICT related problems and solving them satisfactorily The Manifesto launches an open debate on the impacts of ICTs on public spaces politics and societal expectations toward policymaking in the Digital Agenda for Europe s remit More broadly it helps start a reflection on the way in which a hyperconnected world calls for rethinking the referential frameworks on which policies are built      The Onlife Manifesto Luciano Floridi, 2014-12-31
