Niehaus,2005-11-01 Autism Spectrum Coloring Book for Adults and Children - Trace My Face Sarah Brown,2016-10-21 Color My Eyes Trace My Face is a POCKET SIZED coloring book and activity book with black and white photos of faces This book is designed to help people on the autism spectrum to overcome their fear of making eye contact in order to help them to be more comfortable with looking at people s faces Color My Eyes Trace My Face is a powerful little book that taps into the user s natural curiosity while reprogramming the brain to be able to develop a more natural perception of social interaction and sympathy If a person is only interested in objects and does not give any attention to the faces of the people around him he is not going to understand the connection between facial expressions and emotions Usually babies and children study the face of their family members and care givers when they interact with others People with autism give their attention to interesting objects and avoid looking at the face of other people It is especially difficult to make eye contact This gentle little book takes the fear and discomfort out of the process while sparking interest in the human face and encouraging social understanding A person on the autism spectrum is not going to learn the meaning of human expressions in a natural way If he is unwilling to look at people when they are speaking he will not naturally learn how to move his mouth to form sounds and use a normal tone of voice when speaking This will cause problems in language development and speech delays This is why Color My Eyes Trace My Face has the child study the faces of people and animals The person using the book should look at the face and consider how the person or animal is feeling They will color the eyes in order to become more comfortable with eye contact They will identify more than 60 different facial expressions and emotions This book includes animal faces and human faces TO TRACE AND COLOR various races ages children with disabilities braces and Down Syndrome and many facial expressions people interacting like a mom looking at her newborn baby or people laughing together If you are a parent using this book with a child feel free to allow your child to choose what pages he or she wants to use first The child should work on one face per day Be sure to talk with your child about feelings try to make the face the person or animal is making in the photo The ultimate goal is for the person with autism to develop an interest in human faces so they can begin to understand and enjoy the other people in their life In the process they will also become more comfortable sympathetic friendly and expressive in their interaction with others

Other ways to get your child to look at you Play the No blinking game stare at each other and try not to blink Make funny faces and try to get the child to guess if you are making a happy sad silly scared or angry face Talk about eye color Try to remember what color eyes everyone has Encourage the child to play peek a boo with babies Exaggerate your facial expressions Make faces together in the mirror

Kids Coloring Book Autism Activity Studio,2019-07-02 Coloring book for children with Autism or Asperger's syndrome Kids colouring book Simple calming colouring book for children with Autism or Asperger's Syndrome A relaxing Cognitive social and mental development booklet for learning difficulties is an innovative colouring book developed specifically for those with autism and Asperger's or those who may be showing signs Note This book does not mention Autism Asperger's anything else that may cause stress or anxiety for these children Unlike other children's colouring books these colouring pages are tailored for those on all stages of the spectrum With no complex activities and the use of only circular shapes these colouring pages were made to stimulate brain activity in a way which will help not only calm and relax those using it but encourage the appropriate mental patterns required for memory and mental stability Each page is repeated a number of times throughout the course of the colouring book which allows parents or carers to clearly see progress from the start of the book to the end of the book Although pages are not ranked in order of complexity the repetition of pages throughout the book will allow clear patterns of improvement to be observed by family friends and carers The colouring book was developed from insights given by neurologists psychologists caregivers and those with Autism Asperger's to only contain what is most likely to work It should be noted that different children will have different levels of success with each new activity Some will love colouring in and enjoy this book while others may not be successful It is important as a parent or carer to understand what will work for your child and then continue to offer those tasks or activities to your child If you have had success with colouring in the past or have yet to try it then this book is definitely for you If your child has not enjoyed colouring in the past then it is unlikely this book will make much difference and perhaps it is not correct for your child Book Features 90 Pages of coloring in Repeated activities for easy tracking of progress Circular designs to stimulate the correct parts of the brain Simple designs that are designed to reduce stress Favourite themes repeated from first editions Unfavourable designs left out Good Luck
