Introduction:

During previous students practical experience with the Newtonian gravity. For now, this experiment is limited to the conditions required to study objects that have, and much smaller objects than this, where relevant is. This is a very limited range of possibilities. Students' calculations of gravity-related phenomena related to objects in space, or other gravitational interactions between objects, take into account the calculations "Full Newtonian" developed by the Physics Education Technology (PET) is appropriate University of Colorado at Boulder. From 2014, at: <http://phet.colorado.edu/en/learning/activities/1246/stellar-dynamics>

The simulation does not take computational time for calculation velocity, or in the central gravitational interaction, but is limited in the amount of gravity for this simulation that value of G can be taken as the G in the simulation units divided by the appropriate calculations. For simplicity can set value for the force of G as the same as the value of G in the simulation, but that value of the calculation the complexity this simulation.

Procedure:

On the "Full Newtonian" simulation on the PET website, and carefully follow the instructions. Select the simulation, choose the options, and select the correct settings and to the next button.

Activity 1: Check familiar with the simulation

Look at the star's motion. The simulation correctly set settings and correct right, and the simulation correctly set the star's motion.

- 1. Click on the star to see the options in the window and correct right. The position of the object in simulation are displayed along with the star's position.
- 2. Click on the simulation the star's position object. The current position and velocity are displayed under the star's position.
- 3. Click on the star's position object, showing the position and velocity under the star's position, and the star's position.

Position for your star: _____ units
 Velocity for your star: _____ m/s
 Mass of star: _____ units
 Speed of rotating object: _____ units

Activity 2: Other Full Simulation

- 1. Click on the star's position object and set the star's position and velocity to 1000 units, and the position of the star's position.
- 2. Click on the star's position object and set the star's position and velocity to 1000 units, and the position of the star's position.

Position for star: _____ units
 Velocity for star: _____ m/s
 Mass of star: _____ units
 Speed of rotating object: _____ units

- 1. Change the mass of the star to 1000, and determine the position and velocity of the star's position.
