New Caribbean Thought A Reader:

New Caribbean Thought Brian Meeks, Folke Lindahl, 2001 The dawn of the twenty first century is an opportune time for the people of the Caribbean to take stock of the entire experience of the past forty years since the ending of direct colonialism The authors believe it is now time to chart our future by carefully learning the lessons of the recent past This interdisciplinary collection is the first to cross traditionally restrictive disciplinary barriers to address the tough questions that face the Caribbean today What went wrong with the nationalist project What if any are the realistic options for a more prosperous Caribbean What are to be the roles of race gender and class in a more global less national world Meeks and Lindahl include thought provoking articles from twenty one respected thinkers in diverse fields of study The groundbreaking articles include critiques of existing bodies of thought reformulations of general theoretical approaches policy oriented alternatives for future development and more This book is a must for statesmen academics and students of political theory social theory Caribbean studies comparative gender studies post colonial studies Marxism and Caribbean history and anyone interested

Cross-Cultural Perspectives on Policy and Practice Jennifer Lavia, Michele Moore, 2009-09-10 This book provides a space in which struggles for indigenous knowledge within communities are articulated valued heard and responded to The volume takes change as its focus yet acknowledges that the origins and significance of change are frequently found to be unsettling Contributors explore different understandings of change that forge sustainable inclusive and just communities and examine issues related to citizenship resistance peacemaking critical literacies and second chance opportunities The authors seek to promote advocacy of change that recognises the importance of an informed engagement with cross cultural issues in order to foreground those missing perspectives that are often marginalised silenced ignored or denied All contributors are concerned with how the process of change can bridge the gap between social justice and exclusion and develop critical understandings of the implications of changing policy and practice for those within and working with the educational organisations and communities

Dancing Postcolonialism Sabine Sörge, 2015-09-15 This book presents the first in depth critical and historical examination of the internationally renowned National Dance Theatre Company of Jamaica NDTC in the context of postcolonial theatre Combining a postcolonial theoretical framework with performance studies and dance analysis the study examines the interrelationship of Jamaican modern dance theatre aesthetics and the Caribbean s complex cultural genealogy since 1492 Addressing issues of postcolonial nationalism and Jamaican identity politics the book provides the first comprehensive study of the NDTC s modern dance theatre works as it situates dance theatre choreography at the centre of postcolonial independence politics and cultural theory in the Caribbean

Envisioning Caribbean Futures Brian Meeks, 2007 Employing critical analysis of Caribbean intellectual thought and of the postcolonial political economy Brian Meeks sets about proposing a manifesto for the future What emerges is a programme for the medium term which is pragmatic in its efforts to deal with the current crisis without engaging in the romanticism of an all encompassing revolutionary transformation Meeks suggests a form of participatory reorganization without necessarily dismantling the fundamentals of formal democratic organization Particular emphasis is placed on rural agro producers because their empowerment politically and economically resolves the problem of elite domination while creating the conditions for economic democracy He argues finally that the proposals can become the basis for a more fundamental social and intellectual transformation from following Sylvia Wynter man to human based on democracy community and solidarity

Resilience in the Pacific and the Caribbean Simon Hollis, 2020-10-26 This book critically examines the global diffusion and local reception of resilience through the implementation of Disaster Risk Reduction DRR programmes in Pacific and Caribbean island states Global efforts to strengthen local disaster resilience capacities have become a staple of international development activity in recent decades yet the successful implementation of DRR projects designed to strengthen local resilience remains elusive While there are pockets of success a gap remains between global expectations and local realities Through a critical realist study of global and local worldviews of resilience in the Pacific and Caribbean islands this book argues that the global advocacy of DRR remains inadequate because of a failure to prioritise a person orientated ethics in its conceptualization of disaster resilience This regional comparison provides a valuable lens to understand the underlying social structures that makes resilience possible and the extent to which local governments communities and persons interpret and modify their behaviour on risk when faced with the global message on resilience This book will be of much interest to students of resilience risk management development studies and area studies

African Caribbeans Alan West-Durán, 2003-03-30 The African Diaspora left an indelible imprint on Caribbean countries and islands This reference the only broad historical and cultural survey of the black experience in the Caribbean celebrates the Afro Caribbean diversity of the countries it profiles Each of the 15 chapters introduces a country island or group of islands providing an overview from the arrival of slaves to the current situation Topics include history economy politics social stratification race relations cultural highlights religion and notable figures Readers will discover the broad range of languages political systems racial makeup historical uniqueness and cultural offerings that shape the Caribbean A chronology glossary and photos enhance the text

Continuing Perspectives on the Black Diaspora Aubrey W. Bonnett, Calvin B. Holder, 2009-07-16 Continuing Perspectives on the Black Diaspora is a response to a 1990 publication that studied the persistence and resilience of black African diasporic populations in the Caribbean Latin America North America and the United Kingdom In that book the authors used the themes of persistence and resilience to interrogate the social processes and the coping repertoire of these diasporic populations This volume investigates the often overlooked African presence in Asia Researchers sought to determine how many of these diasporic populations have fared in the context of political independence globalization economic marginalization and the presence of ethnic conflict and institutional racism even with positive class formations and declining significance of race in other geographical areas Prescriptions for the continued viability of these diasporic populations are provided India and China are undergoing a global renaissance emerging as potentially significant economic political and cultural actors on the world scene Meanwhile ancestral Africa is still socially politically and economically fragmented thereby causing a new migratory push to North America and Europe

Constructing Vernacular Culture in the Trans-Caribbean Holger Henke, Karl-Heinz Magister, 2008 Constructing Vernacular Culture in the Trans Caribbean traces the contradictory cultural trajectories constructed and re produced in the fluid diasporic spaces we call the Trans Caribbean Particular emphasis is placed on such cultural expressions that reflect or derive from the cultural vernacular and popular culture as it exists in these spaces Its multidisciplinary approach and focus on different language areas in the Trans Caribbean are of particular interest to scholars in cultural studies migration literary theory and cultural criticism

New West Indian Guide, 2003 Transcultural Visions of Identities in Images and Texts Wilfried Raussert, Reinhard Isensee, 2008 The contributions engage with literary political and cultural practices in America past and present set out to transcend long established paradigms of an American exceptionalism or critical approaches that hold on to the notion of a core Americanness as a single nationalist mythology of the United States America then functions as a signifier that is configured in and by its presence outside and beyond the national borders of the United States of America The overall thrust of our volume draws upon concepts of the New American Studies especially Post Nationalist American Studies

Social Inequalities, Media, and Communication Toks Oyedemi, Jan Servaes, 2016-02-04 Social Inequalities Media and Communication Theory and Roots provides a global analysis of the intersection of social inequalities media and communication This book contains chapter contributions written by scholars from around the world who engage in country and region specific case studies of social inequalities in media and communication The volume is a theoretical exploration of the classical structuralist culturalist postmodernist and postcolonial theoretical approaches to inequality and how these theoretical discourses provide critical understanding of social inequalities in relation to narratives shaped by media and communication experiences The contributors provide class and gender analyses of media and culture engage theoretical discourses of inequalities and capitalism in relation to communication technologies and explore the cyclical relationship of theory and praxis in studying inequalities media and communication

CJLACS, 2005 Explaining Caribbean Regionalism Angel L. Viera-Tirado, 2004

Labour and the Multiracial Project in the Caribbean Sara Abraham, 2007 Labour and The Multiracial Project in the Caribbean covers major twentieth century political developments in Trinidad and Tobago and Guyana It pays particular attention to social movements class formation and new emancipatory ideas on liberation from colonial legacies in political structure and racial division

The Political Interests of Gender Revisited Anna G. Jónasdóttir, Kathleen B. Jones, 2009 This collection of theoretical and empirical research on gender and politics assembles contributions from a group of international scholars providing varied accounts of the political interests of gender It examines how to bridge the gap between discursive and socio materialist accounts of gender relations and politics Offering new models for theoretical and empirical research the first five chapters provide a theoretical framework for the collection while the following eight chapters shed light on key concepts through detailed case studies of such topics as human rights womens movements gendered labor markets international monetary policy equality policy and queer politics Publisher s description
