Student-Led Peer Review Kimberly A. Lowe, Liv Cummins, Summer Ray Clark, Bill Porter, Lisa Spitz, 2023-07-03 Student led peer review can be a powerful learning experience for both giver and receiver developing evaluative judgment critical thinking and collaborative skills that are highly transferable across disciplines and professions Its success depends on purposeful planning and scaffolding to promote student ownership of the process With intentional and consistent implementation peer review can engage students in course content and promote deep learning while also increasing the efficiency and effectiveness of faculty assessment Based on the authors extensive experience and research this book provides a practical introduction to the key principles steps and strategies to implement student peer review sometimes referred to as peer critique or workshopping It addresses common challenges that faculty and students encounter. The authors offer an easy to follow and rigorously tested three part protocol to use before, during and after a peer review session and advice on adapting each step to individual courses. The process is applicable across all disciplines, content types and modalities, face to face and online synchronous and asynchronous. Instructors can guide students in peer review in one course across two or more courses that are team taught or across programs or curriculums. When instructors, students and university stakeholders create a culture of peer review, it enhances learning benefits for students and allows faculty to share pedagogical resources. Student peer review is a high impact pedagogy that easily implemented inculcates lifelong learning skills in students and relieves the assessment burden on faculty as students collaborate to improve their own work. The New Virtual Classroom Ruth C. Clark, Ann Kwinn, 2007-03-22. The New Virtual Classroom draws on the most current research in multimedia learning as well as practitioner experience to show how to effectively harness the power of the virtual classroom. Written by Ruth Clark, co-author of the best selling e Learning: the Science of Instruction and Ann Kwinn, recognized experts in instructional design and workforce learning, this important resource includes guidelines, research and illustrative examples that clearly show how to leverage the powerful instructional features in the new virtual classroom. Preparing Educators for Online Writing Instruction Beth L. Hewett, Christa Ehmann, 2004 Offers a theoretical justification for online writing instruction (OWI) as well as a detailed approach to training educators for such instruction. Examples of training methods for both real time and asynchronous systems are accompanied by illustrations and screen shots. The authors, developers of online instructional programs at Smarthinking Inc, also show how five main pedagogical principles can inform online instructor training independent of the platform being used. The volume concludes with a glossary and findings from a study on how students use OWI. Ethical and Professional Issues in Counseling R. Rocco Cottone, Vilia M. Tarvydas, 2003 Expanded, revised and more reader friendly, the second edition of this well researched book again provides its exceptional coverage of the philosophical foundations of counseling. This is one of the most comprehensive, thorough and readable books on the market today. After a thorough discussion of ethical principles and standards, the authors conscientiously examine ethical issues as they manifest themselves within several specialty areas: family counseling and school counseling, for example. They again include their highly praised compendium of ethical codes, ideal for study by future counselors or as a reference for practitioners. This book addresses high interest topics such as genetics, eugenics and managed care. It examines the variables and nuances of counseling clients of various ethical and cultural backgrounds. It also covers everything from office layout to maintaining records from setting fees and billing to handling disagreements, computer assisted counseling, online forums and computer assisted assessment. For professionals in the field of counseling.
